Beaches Form And Process:

Beaches J. Hardisty, 1990-12-31 This book places research into worldwide beach environments in its geomorphological context Having introduced the systems approach to environmental modelling and identified the groups of processes operating on beaches the text is structured in five parts the first three sections provide a sequential account of the effects of these processes on the beach system part four focuses on theory relevant to landform stability then reviews existing empirical analytical and numerical models and the final section introduces a computer model and shows its application to the process functions developed earlier

Handbook of Coastal Processes and Erosion Paul D. Komar, 2018-02-06 The objective of this book is to focus on the physical processes that cause coastal erosion Many scientists and engineers have focused their research on the entire range of physical processes from the waves and the currents in the nearshore to the response of the beach via sand transport resulting in a changing coastal morphology Of these many processes this book focuses only on those which directly relate the generation of coastal erosion Some chapters deal exclusively with the physical processes while others provide examples of erosion problems although most of the chapter topics have clear implications for issues of coastal zone management these issues are not belaboured as several other books are already available in this area The objective is to provide state of the art presentation of the science of coastal erosion processes
