The Double Truth Controversy Bartosz Brożek, 2010 The principal source of the double truth controversy is the condemnation of 1277 issued by the bishop of Paris Stephan Tempier In the introduction to the document Tempier condemns those philosophers who claim that there are things true according to the Catholic faith but false on the basis of natural reason There are several problems involved here the first being whether anyone has actually ever advocated double truth The second follows on the heels of the first since if so what does the theory of duplex veritas amount to Finally is it rational to uphold a view that embraces double truth This book attempts to answer these questions The resulting picture is that of complex and interesting accounts of the relationship between faith and reason enabling an in depth reflection on the contemporary discussions of the issue
