Beacon First Reader:

The Beacon First-sixth Reader James Hiram Fassett,1913 The Beacon First Reader (color Edition) (Yesterday's Classics) James H. Fassett,2022-05-10 The Beacon First Reader differs from other first readers in that all the material has been carefully arranged with reference to its phonetic difficulties In selecting material the plan has been to present only stories that have stood the test of time stories which the child delights to hear repeated again and again Since our language is so richly endowed with these masterpieces it seems absurd to give to children made up stories which are in no sense comparable as examples of literature to the old folklore The interest with which the child reads the classic tales he loves proves a most effective stimulus to his reading power He does not need to be urged to master them sentence by sentence but seizes upon them with avidity The power which this element of interest lends cannot be emphasized too strongly The Beacon First Reader ,1913 The Beacon First Reader ,1913 The Beacon First-Sixth Reader, Volume 1... - Primary Source Edition James Hiram Fassett,2014-02-22 This is a reproduction of a book published before 1923 This book may have occasional imperfections such as missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc that were either part of the original artifact or were introduced by the scanning process We believe this work is culturally important and despite the imperfections have elected to bring it back into print as part of our continuing commitment to the preservation of printed works worldwide We appreciate your understanding of the imperfections in the preservation process and hope you enjoy this valuable book The below data was compiled from various identification fields in the bibliographic record of this title This data is provided as an additional tool in helping to ensure edition identification The Beacon First sixth Reader Volume 1 The Beacon First sixth Reader James Hiram Fassett James Hiram Fassett Ginn Readers and speakers Reading Elementary
