Over the past three decades the developing world has seen increasing devolution of political and economic power to local governments Decentralization is considered an important element of participatory democracy and along with privatization and deregulation represents a substantial reduction in the authority of national governments over economic policy The contributors to Decentralization and Local Governance in Developing Countries examine this institutional transformation from comparative and interdisciplinary perspectives offering detailed case studies of decentralization in eight countries Bolivia Brazil China India Indonesia Pakistan South Africa and Uganda Some of these countries witnessed an unprecedented big bang shift toward comprehensive political and economic decentralization Bolivia in 1995 and Indonesia after the fall of Suharto in 1998 Brazil and India decentralized in an uneven and more gradual manner In some other countries such as Pakistan devolution represented an instrument for consolidation of power of a nondemocratic national government In China local governments were granted much economic but little political power South Africa made the transition from the undemocratic decentralization of apartheid to decentralization under a democratic constitution The studies provide a comparative perspective on the political and economic context within which decentralization took place and how this shaped its design and possible impact Contributors Omar Azfar Gianpaolo Baiocchi Pranab Bardhan Shubham Chaudhuri Ali Cheema Jean Paul Faguet Bert Hofman Kai Kaiser Philip E Keefer Asim Ijaz Khwaja Justin Yifu Lin Mingxing Liu Jeffrey Livingston Patrick Meagher Dilip Mookherjee Ambar Narayan Adnan Qadir Ran Tao Tara Vishwanath Martin Wittenberg

Development Management Justice Nyigmah Bawole, Farhad Hossain, Asad K. Ghalib, Christopher J. Rees, Aminu Mamman, 2016-10-04 Despite significant financial investments the rate of development and pace of poverty reduction in developing and transitional countries has not always matched expectations Development management typically involves complex interactions between governmental and non governmental organisations donors and members of the public and can be difficult to navigate This volume brings together a group of international contributors to explore the theoretical and empirical underpinnings of development management and to consider the prospects and challenges associated with it in the context of both developing and transitional countries Referring to dominant norms and values in public and developmental organisations development management is tied up with the attitudes and perceptions of various stakeholders including government officials public sector managers aid workers donors and members of the public Attempting to make sense of complex interactions between these actors is highly problematic and calls for new approaches models and insights Based on cutting edge research the chapters challenge much of the previous discourse on the subject and evaluate the challenges and opportunities that it presents Development Management offers academics researchers and practitioners of public administration business and management international development and political science a comprehensive and state of the art review of current research on development management in the context of developing and transitional countries Good Governance and Development Brian Smith,2007-08-20 An exploration of the implications of the good governance agendas for developing and newly democratized countries The book assesses the good governance agenda and examines the view of the international development agencies Finally it considers the contribution political science can make to an understanding of each dimension of governance New Century Local Government Graham Sansom,Peter McKinlay,2013-09-30 Democratic decentralisation through conventional institutions of local government is facing increasing challenges whether from financial pressures questions of representativeness difficult central local relations and from a perhaps growing belief that local government has failed to realise its potential and there may be better ways of achieving societal goals It is clear there is need to contemplate quite radical change to ensure local government becomes or remains fit for purpose This collection of papers illustrates the way in which the role of local government is evolving in different parts of the Commonwealth and provides practical examples of new local government at work It showcases emerging practice and highlights success stories from new ways of working and challenges confronting local government in both developed and developing countries New Century Local Government makes a very valuable contribution to helping understand the changing role of local government and will ensure that practitioners are up to date with the most innovative initiatives in local government planning and administration Local Economic Development In The Developing World Etienne Louis Nel,Christian Myles Rogerson, Over the last two decades the concept and practice of Local Economic Development LED has gained widespread acceptance around the world as a locally based response to the challenges posed by globalization devolution local level opportunities and economic crises Support for local economic development is now firmly on the agenda of many national governments and key international agencies This volume examines the debates about Local Economic Development and examines some of the unfolding experiences of LED in the developing world The focus is upon the region of southern Africa and more especially upon post apartheid South Africa LED emerged in South Africa as one of the more significant post apartheid development options being pursued by empowered localities with the overt encouragement of national government Elsewhere in the developing world much interest surrounds the experience of LED in post apartheid South Africa which is seen as a laboratory for experimentation innovation and learning The seventeen chapters in this book examine the range of LED interventions that have been the basis for experimentation in the last decade including both pro market as well as pro poor interventions Key themes include debates about the most appropriate policy directions for LED its contribution towards sustainable development the role of social capital cluster support public procurement eco development good governance and tourism led LED The book also contains a series of detailed case studies on the implementation of LED in South Africa and the wider region of southern Africa including analyses of LED undertaken at a variety of scales from the provincial metropolitan and small town level Until now most research on local economic development has focused on the developed world This volume breaks new ground in applying LED policy and practices to problems specific to the developing world It will be of interest to scholars of development studies urban and regional planning human geography and urban studies This compelling and comprehensive book provides a look at the innovative including pro poor local economic development strategies being used in South Africa The contributors to Local Economic Development in the Changing World The Experience of Southern Africa are among the very best scholars in the field Gary Gaile University of Colorado Etienne Nel and Christian Rogerson have produced an excellent book on local economic development in South Africa The chapters in this timely volume contain many valuable lessons for both the developing and the developed world Of particular importance is the policy focus of Nel and Rogerson on investing in and empowering low income workers entrepreneurs families and neighborhoods Because of the special emphasis on inclusive economic development strategies this book is a very useful guide to what the Prague Institute calls Treating People and Communities as Assets Dr Marc A Weiss Chairman and CEO Prague Institute for Global Urban Development Etienne Nel is associate professor in the Department of Geography of Rhodes University Grahamstown South Africa Christian M Rogerson is professor of human geography School of Geography Archaeology and Environmental Studies University of Witwatersrand Johannesburg
