Write Here: Developing Writing Skills in a Media-Driven World Randi Brummett de Leon, Brooke Hughes, 2020-04-30

Write Here is designed to teach students essential reading and writing skills using media examples to help explain academic concepts and provide opportunities for practice. It is adaptable because it covers the basics of reading writing and the modes of writing it is appropriate to use in developmental composition classrooms. However it also covers such topics as logical fallacies rhetoric timed writing academic writing source integration and MLA APA documentation making it appropriate for a first year or stretch composition course. Many beginning writing students are underprepared and feel that writing just isn't for them. The authors hope to dispel that myth by using media examples and a conversational tone to introduce and teach the material. Write Here provides examples that are interesting to students while allowing them to connect to the subject matter on a more personal level. Additionally the process of analyzing the media helps students sharpen their reading writing and critical thinking skills.

Joyce, Susan Feez, 2005 DEVELOPING WRITING SKILLS assists students to develop a broad range of writing skills with a particular focus on less abstract and more personally oriented texts. Each student book has information and explanations to assist students with essential rules definitions processes and concepts and an extensive range of exercises. As well as the answers to questions in the workbooks. Developing Writing Skills Teachers Resource Book contains additional explanations information and examples of text types for teachers with additional exercises for guided practice extension and assessment. The guided practice is developed through analysis of model texts activities to develop skills in structuring whole texts and developing skills in the strategic use of vocabulary and grammar.

Developing Writing Skills David James, 2016-11-12

This book aims to broaden the reader's interest in language as an essentially human activity and as an art form. However it is less concerned with encouraging creative writers than in sharpening sensitivity to the billions of words and word combinations that surround us. Of the four language skills listening speaking reading and writing writing is the most difficult. It is also the skill by which we are often judged by others as worthy to proceed to higher learning say or to be interviewed for a post of special responsibility. It is the sector that causes most anxiety for pupils and parents. As an essentially self help guide this book may be used as a supplement to regular classes however it is predominantly a stand alone manual that eschews regular drills and places the onus on the student to question our use of written and spoken words. Each of the 60 or so one page chapters simply outlines the topic and follows this with a To Do section with no answers. The student will realise that language is arbitrary and that he/she is the final judge. Developing Writing Skills is not merely about getting you through exams but encouraging an interest in language for life. It is a practical book but not a grammar book it encourages you to read widely and choose your words with care to expand your word store to write continually and self critically and learn to take a pride in a sentence Students may look askance at the latter because schools are essentially market orientated encouraging performance through various stages and obsessed by league tables and university places Life does not begin with a first class honours degree and end with a career as a heart surgeon or a barrister it begins and ends with an attempt to grapple with language sounds and later its accompanying marks on paper rather than marks in a teacher s record book
