Governance for a Progressing Africa, 2004 Repressive State and Resurgent Media Under Nigeria's Military Dictatorship, 1988-98 Ayo Olukotun, 2004 This study documents a crucial dimension of the resistance of Nigerian civil society to a repressive and monumentally corrupt military state in the late 1980s and 1990s in Nigeria Employing a neo Gramscian theoretical framework the study relates how a section of the media defied censorship laws outright bans incarceration and the assassination of opposition figures to prosecute the struggle for democracy It captures the tensions and contradictions between a pliant section of the media which sought to legitimise the state and a critical section of the same media which in alliance with radical civil society invented rebellious outlets to carry on the struggle against dictatorship The study seeks to make fresh departures by documenting not only the role of the national media in the throes of democratic struggle but that of the international media whose role was influential in the years studied Finally the report offers empirical proof of the mechanisms by which a vibrant civil society can curb the ravages of a predatory state in an African country Book jacket

South-south Migration and Remittances Dilip Ratha,William Shaw,2007 South South Migration and Remittances reports on preliminary results from an ongoing effort to improve data on bilateral migration stocks It sets out some working hypotheses on the determinants and socioeconomic implications of South South migration Contrary to popular perception that migration is mostly a South North phenomenon South South migration is large Available data from national censuses suggest that nearly half of the migrants from developing countries reside in other developing countries Almost 80 percent of South South migration takes place between countries with contiguous borders Estimates of South South remittances range from 9 to 30 percent of developing countries remittance receipts in 2005 Although the impact of South South migration on the income of migrants and natives is smaller than for South North migration small increases in income can have substantial welfare implications for the poor The costs of South South remittances are even higher than those of North South remittances These findings suggest that policymakers should pay attention to the complex challenges that developing countries face not only as countries of origin but also as countries of destination
