Broken Codes Pluto Crime:

Broken Codes John H. Shannon, 1986-01-01 Literature and Sensation Anthony Uhlmann, 2008-12-18 I never travel without my diary One should always have something sensational to read in the train Oscar Wilde Literature has always treated the sensational crime passion violence trauma catastrophe It has frequently caused or been at the centre of scandal censorship and moral outrage But literature is also intricately connected with sensation in ways that are less well understood It mediates between the sensory world perception and cognition through rich modes of thought allied with perceptions and emotions and makes sense of profound questions that transcend the merely rational And at its boundaries literature engages with the uncanny realm in which knowledge presentiment or feeling is prior to articulation in words This book reviews the sensational dimension of literature according to themes that have too often been left to one side Literary theory has often privileged perception over sensation cognition over raw experience in focusing on semantics rather than sense The essays in this volume cover literature and sensation in all its facets drawing upon a range of approaches from evolutionary theory theories of mind perception philosophy and aesthetics The works considered are drawn from various literary periods and genres from the nineteenth century to contemporary prose and poetry including experiments in new media Literature and Sensation offers detailed and subtle readings of literature according to the sensations they represent incite or evoke in us and will be of interest to readers of literary theory ethics and aesthetics and theorists of new media art The Crimes of Empire Carl Boggs, 2010-02-02 Imperial nations advance their own interests by exploiting other societies To those on the receiving end this is obvious while inside the empire a powerful ideological system of justification tends to hide all but the worst excess Carl Boggs argues that that the US began life two centuries ago as a nascent colonialist regime plundering and conquering the Native Tribes The Indian wars were followed by perpetual militarism and warfare fuelled by a deep sense of national exceptionalism The Crimes Of Empire examines several trends in this process and illustrates the new depths plumbed since 9 11 Violation of international agreements treaties and laws the use of prohibited weapons support for death squads and torture are just some of the practices that America uses to prove technical superiority and media control thus prolonging the American nightmare Exodus-b Morgan Plantz, 2022-07-16 Freesia s life had always been monotonous Between failed relationships and a verbally abusive husband she thought her life was going to go nowhere One day time stopped for her during a crash on her way to her bland 9 5 job A new world opened up to her Was it a dream No it was Centauri b A secret world an immaculate view Aliens NASA She is going to have to find a way to save a place that is so unknown that Russia doesn t even know about it Will she be able to overcome her new challenges With the help of her deceased family and the living the hurdles she will jump over will leave you windless Suspense drama and a little bit of sci fi this story will take you on a whole new adventure into a world of Heaven and Hell Maybe it is Earth Security Entrepreneurs Alexandra Gheciu, 2018-05-10 Focusing on four East European polities Bosnia Serbia Bulgaria and Romania this book examines the dynamics and implications of processes of commercialization of security that have occurred following the collapse of communist regimes. These processes have been central to post communist liberalization and have profoundly shaped those states and their integration into European institutional structures and global economic and political circuits. They have also affected and been shaped by the behaviour and power of regional and global actors e.g. European institutions, regional and global corporations in Eastern Europe. By virtue of the fact that they combine in complex ways local, national, regional and global dynamics and actors, processes of security commercialization in the former Eastern bloc can be seen as instances of glocalization. Several aspects of security commercialization are particularly important. To begin with private actors, specifically private security companies (PSCs) have been reconstituted as partial agents of public power. As such they have come to be systematically involved in performing security practices traditionally associated with the state. In addition, a potent commercial logic has come to permeate public security institutions. This has led to redefinition of the relationship between the state and its population in ways that defy conventional wisdom about the role of the state and pose difficult normative challenges. More broadly, processes of security commercialization in Eastern Europe which involve important performative dimensions have led to the emergence of complex hybrid networks of security providers that transcend domestic/international/public/private boundaries and behave in many ways as entrepreneurs.

Three for the Money Jack Kamen, Al Feldstein, 2021-07-13. This volume of the New York Times bestselling series of superbly restored classic crime and horror EC Comics re-presents the work of Jack Kamen, Al Feldstein and Ray Bradbury. Grand Master crime novelist Max Allan Collins' Road to Perdition introduces these tales which include the infamous The Orphan, one of the stories that got EC Comics into hot water during the U.S. Senate's investigation into comic books. The October Game is adapted from the chilling classic short story by Ray Bradbury. A gruesome look at a malevolent Halloween party game perpetrated by a man who believes the child of his unfaithful wife is not his. In Frozen Assets a woman and her lover seal her still living husband in a chest freezer. Standing Room Only: a brother murders his twin sister and her husband and disguises himself as her so he can inherit their estate. But then the estate lawyer makes a play for the widow. Three for the Money: A woman finds her husband dead with a knife in his back and a bullet in his head. The police arrest two suspects but to get a conviction they must determine who acted first: Who actually committed the murder and who stabbed or shot a man who was already dead.

Cultural Heritage, Ethics and the Military Peter G. Stone, 2011. The world reacted with horror to the images of the looting of the National Museum in Iraq in 2003, closely followed by other museums and then largely unchecked or archaeological sites across the country. This outcome had been predicted by many archaeologists, with some offering to work directly with the military to identify museums and sites to be avoided and protected. However, this work has since been heavily criticised by others working in the field who claim that such collaboration lent a legitimacy to the invasion. It has therefore served to focus on the broader issue of whether archaeologists and other cultural heritage experts should ever work with the military.
