promoting democracy human rights and the rule of law narcotics control policy and refugees migrants and internally displaced persons Led by Mathea Falco president of Drug Strategies and former assistant secretary of state for international narcotics matters this bipartisan Task Force comprises members with a wide range of experience in international business law government media academia publichealth and human rights advocacy among other areas Its recommendations are intended to inform U S government action as well as to increase U S cooperation with other countries especially in Asia to bring about a long overdue political economic and social transformation of Burma U.S. Strategy for Pakistan and Afghanistan Richard Lee Armitage, Samuel R. Berger, Daniel Seth Markey, 2010 The Council on Foreign Relations sponsors Independent Task Forces to assess issues of current and critical importance to U S foreign policy and provide policymakers with concrete judgments and recommendations Diverse in backgrounds and perspectives Task Force members aim to reach a meaningful consensus on policy through private and non partisan deliberations Once launched Task Forces are independent of CFR and solely responsible for the content of their reports Task Force members are asked to join a consensus signifying that they endorse the general policy thrust and judgments reached by the group though not necessarily every finding and recommendation Each Task Force member also has the option of putting forward an additional or a dissenting view Members affiliations are listed for identification purposes only and do not imply institutional endorsement Task Force observers participate in discussions but are not asked to join the consensus Book Jacket U.S. Nuclear Weapons Policy William James Perry, Brent Scowcroft, Charles D. Ferguson, 2009 The report notes that in the near term nuclear weapons will remain a fundamental element of U S national security For this reason it emphasizes the importance of maintaining a safe secure and reliable deterrent nuclear force and makes recommendations on this front The report also offers measures to advance important goals such as preventing nuclear terrorism and bolstering the nuclear nonproliferation regime Foreword The Emerging Global Health Crisis Council on Foreign Relations, 2014-12-01 Rates of heart disease cancer diabetes and other noncommunicable diseases NCDs in low and middle income countries are increasing faster in younger people and with worse outcomes than in wealthier countries In 2013 alone NCDs killed eight million people before their sixtieth birthdays in developing countries A new CFR sponsored Independent Task Force report and accompanying interactive look at the factors behind this epidemic and the ways the United States can best fight it Working With a Rising India Charles R. Kaye, Joseph S. Nye Jr., Alyssa Ayres, 2015-11-01 India now matters to U S interests in virtually every dimension This CFR sponsored Independent Task Force report directed by Alyssa Ayres assesses the current situation in India and the U S India relationship and suggests a new model for partnership with a rising India Defending an Open, Global, Secure, and Resilient Internet Council on Foreign Relations, 2013-06-01 The CFR sponsored Independent Task Force report Defending an Open Global Secure and Resilient Internet finds that as more people and services become interconnected and dependent on the Internet societies are becoming increasingly vulnerable to cyberattacks To support security innovation growth and the free flow of information the Task Force recommends that the United States and its partners work to build a cyber alliance make the free flow of information a part of all future trade agreements and articulate an inclusive and robust vision of Internet governance

U.S. Trade and Investment Policy Andrew H. Card, Edward H. Alden, Council on Foreign Relations, Matthew Jon Slaughter, 2011 From American master Ward Just returning to his trademark territory of Forgetfulness and The Weather in Berlin an evocative portrait of diplomacy and desire set against the backdrop of America's first lost war U.S.-Turkey Relations Madeline Albright, Steven Cook, Stephen Hadley, Senior Fellow Steven A Cook, 2012-05 Turkey is a rising regional and global power facing as is the United States the challenges of political transitions in the Middle East bloodshed in Syria and Iran's pursuit of nuclear weapons As a result it is incumbent upon the leaders of the United States and Turkey to define a new partnership in order to make a strategic relationship a reality says a new Council on Foreign Relations CFR sponsored Independent Task Force A Sharper Choice on North Korea Mike Mullen, Sam Nunn, Adam Mount, 2016-09-01 U.S.

Education Reform and National Security Joel I. Klein, Condoleezza Rice, Julia Levy, 2014-05-14 The United States failure to educate its students leaves them unprepared to compete and threatens the country's ability to thrive in a global economy and maintain its leadership role This report notes that while the United States invests more in K-12 public education than many other developed countries its students are ill prepared to compete with their global peers According to the results of the 2009 Program for International Student Assessment PISA an international assessment that measures the performance of 15 year olds in reading mathematics and science every three years U.S. students rank fourteenth in reading twenty fifth in math and seventeenth in science compared to students in other industrialized countries The lack of preparedness poses threats on five national security fronts economic growth and competitiveness physical safety intellectual property U.S. global awareness and U.S. unity and cohesion says the report Too many young people are not employable in an increasingly high skilled and global economy and too many are not qualified to join the military because they are physically unfit have criminal records or have an inadequate level of education The report proposes three overarching policy recommendations implement educational expectations and assessments in subjects vital to protecting national security make structural changes to provide students with good choices and launch a national security readiness audit to hold schools and policymakers accountable for results and to raise public awareness Arctic Imperatives Thad W. Allen, Christine Todd Whitman, Esther Brimmer, Anya Schmemmann, 2017-03-01

Promoting Human Rights in Burma Morten B. Pedersen, 2008 Since 1988 when Burma's military rulers crushed a popular uprising Western governments have promoted democracy as a panacea for the country's manifold development problems from ethnic conflict to weak governance human rights abuses and deep rooted structural poverty Years of escalating censure and sanctions however have left the military firmly entrenched in power the opposition marginalized and the general population suffering from deepening poverty In the first book length study of Western human rights policy in Burma Morten B. Pedersen argues that Western democracy rhetoric has not supplied the solution to these problems Each year Burma s human and natural resources are further eroding the HIV AIDS epidemic is mounting and the prospect of turning the situation around is becoming less and less likely Based on extensive field research Promoting Human Rights in Burma proposes an alternative model of critical engagement that emphasizes more pragmatic efforts to help bring a deeply divided society together and promote socioeconomic development as the basis for longer term political change Although the focus is squarely on Burma the fallacies in Western policy thinking that this case study reveals as well as the alternative policy framework it offers have wider relevance for other poor conflict ridden countries on the periphery of the global political and economic system Indian Journal of Asian Affairs ,2006 Bibliographie Mensuelle United Nations Library (Geneva, Switzerland),2004 Renewing the Atlantic Partnership Henry Kissinger, Lawrence H. Summers, Charles Kupchan, Council on Foreign Relations, 2004 In the year that has passed since the war in Iraq the United States and its European allies have done much to repair their relations Nonetheless the end of the Cold War Europe s continuing integration and the new array of threats confronting the West continue to test the strength of the Atlantic partnership To revitalize the Atlantic alliance Europe and America must forge new rules of the road governing the use of force adapt the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO to meet today s threats coming from outside Europe and launch a major initiative to bring about political and economic reform in the greater Middle East These are the conclusions of an independent Task Force chaired by former secretary of state Henry A Kissinger and former secretary of the treasury Lawrence H Summers This report argues that the current rift in transatlantic relations is not solely a product of the war in Iraq but that the war brought these strains to a point of crisis What is surprising is the extent to which the terrorist attacks on the United States and the reactions of Europeans to America s response to those attacks have transformed these differences into active confrontation The report sets out priorities for the transatlantic community such as establishing new guidelines for the use of military force and developing a common policy toward irresponsible states that seek or possess weapons of mass destruction or that harbor or support terrorists It also lays out guidelines for restoring and deepening transatlantic cooperation Under Pressure ,2004 In Support of Arab Democracy Madeleine Korbelt Albright, Vin Weber, 2005 The Bush administration s active promotion of democracy and freedom in the Middle East reflects a core component of Washington s new approach to the region In the post 9 11 environment domestic developments within Arab countries are a security concern for the United States New awareness of the nexus between U S national security interests and the desire of many Arabs if not their leaders for political liberalization and economic reform has opened a window of opportunity for U S policy While there is no doubt that internal political dynamics are creating pressure for change the United States is also shaping events in the Middle East The invasion of Iraq demands for reform of Palestinian political institutions calls for democracy in Egypt and support for the Lebanese opposition have helped create momentum for change throughout the Arab world In this timely report a bipartisan group of experts examines the political social and economic dynamics of the Arab Middle East They evaluate the effectiveness of current U S efforts to advance political and economic liberalization in the region and they make a series of recommendations to U S policymakers on how best to support the change underway Emergency Responders-- Drastically Underfunded, Dangerously Unprepared Jamie Frederic Metz, Warren B. Rudman, Richard Alan Clarke, 2003 The Council sponsored Independent Task Force on Emergency Responders met with emergency responder organizations across the country to assess what would be required to achieve a minimum effective response to a catastrophic terrorist attack Although the Task Force argues that additional funding for emergency responders is urgently needed the report also stresses the importance of developing national preparedness standards to ensure the most efficient and effective use of limited resources New Priorities in South Asia Frank G. Wisner, Nicholas Platt, Marshall M. Bouton, Dennis Kux, Mahnaz Z. Ispahani, 2003 The Chairman s Report of an Independent Task Force on New Priorities in South Asia assesses the strengths and weaknesses of India Pakistan and Afghanistan and recommends how U S policy can best take advantage of the opportunities while addressing the dangers that they present The report urges new initiatives to solidify the partnership with an economically and militarily stronger India carefully calibrated support for Pakistan in its efforts in the volatile Kashmir conflict a new framework for and a close watch on proliferation issues in the region and redoubled support for the Hamid Karzai government s security initiatives in Afghanistan BOOK JACKET
