Brothers Like Friends:

The Ways of Friendship Amit Desai, Evan Killick, 2010-08-01 Friendship is an essential part of human experience involving ideas of love and morality as well as material and pragmatic concerns Making and having friends is a central aspect of everyday life in all human societies Yet friendship is often considered of secondary significance in comparison to domains such as kinship economics and politics How important are friends in different cultural contexts What would a study of society viewed through the lens of friendship look like Does friendship affect the shape of society as much as society moulds friendship Drawing on long term ethnographic fieldwork in Asia the Middle East Africa Latin America and Europe this volume offers answers to these questions and examines the ideology and practice of friendship as it is embedded in wider social contexts and transformations Michigan Historical Collections Michigan Historical Commission, Michigan State Historical Society, 1888

Reading Roman Friendship Craig A. Williams, 2012-10-18 This book invites us to approach friendship not as something that simply is but as something performed in and through language Roman friendship is read across a wide spectrum of Latin texts from Catullus poetry to Petronius Satyricon to the philosophical writings of Cicero and Seneca from letters exchanged by the Emperor Marcus Aurelius and his beloved teacher Fronto to those written by men and women at an outpost in northern Britain One of the most innovative features of this study is the equal attention it pays to Latin literature and to inscriptions carved in stone across the Roman Empire What emerges is a richly varied and perhaps surprising picture Hundreds of epitaphs commissioned by men and women citizens and slaves record the commemoration of friends which is of equal importance to understanding Roman friendship as Cicero's influential essay De amicitia

The Youth's Companion Nathaniel Willis, Daniel Sharp Ford, 1919 Includes music The Gentleman's Magazine, 1877 The Gentleman's magazine section is a digest of selections from the weekly press the Trader's monthly intelligencer section consists of news foreign and domestic vital statistics a register of the month's new publications and a calendar of forthcoming trade fairs

Men and Women Making Friends in Early Modern France Lewis C. Seifert, Rebecca M. Wilkin, 2016-03-03 Today the friendships that grab people's imaginations are those that reach across inequalities of class and race The friendships that seem to have exerted an analogous level of fascination in early modern France were those that defied the assumption inherited from Aristotle and patristic sources that friendships between men and women were impossible Together the essays in Men and Women Making Friends in Early Modern France tell the story of the declining intelligibility of classical models of male friendship and of the rising prominence of women as potential friends The revival of Plato's friendship texts in the sixteenth century challenged Aristotle's rigid ideal of perfect friendship between men In the seventeenth century a new imperative of heterosociality opened a space for the cultivation of cross gender friendships while the spiritual friendships of the Catholic Reformation modeled relationships that transcended the gendered dynamics of galanterie Men and Women Making Friends in Early Modern France argues that the imaginative experimentation in friendships between men and women was a distinctive feature of early modern French culture The ten essays in this volume address friend making as a process that is creative of self and responsive to changing social and political circumstances Contributors reveal how men and women fashioned gendered selves and also circumvented gender norms through concrete friendship practices By showing that the benefits and the risks of friendship are magnified when gender roles and relations are unsettled the essays in this volume highlight the relevance of early modern friend making to friendship in the contemporary world
