Death Among The Stars:

Death among the stars Jean Marsh, 1955 Life and Death of the Stars Ganesan Srinivasan, 2014-03-13 This volume is devoted to one of the fascinating things about stars how they evolve as they age This evolution is different for stars of different masses How stars end their lives when their supply of energy is exhausted also depends on their masses Interestingly astronomers conjectured about the ultimate fate of the stars even before the details of their evolution became clear Part I of this book gives an account of the remarkable predictions made during the 1920s and 1930s concerning the ultimate fate of stars Since much of this development hinged on quantum physics that emerged during this time a detailed introduction to the relevant physics is included in the book Part II is a summary of the life history of stars This discussion is divided into three parts low mass stars like our Sun intermediate mass stars and massive stars Many of the concepts of contemporary astrophysics were built on the foundation erected by Subrahmanyan Chandrasekhar in the 1930s This book written during his birth centenary includes a brief biographical sketch of the brilliant scientist which readers will find fascinating Reading this book will get young students excited about the presently unfolding revolution in astronomy and the challenges that await them in the world of physics engineering and technology General readers will also find the book appealing for its highly accessible narrative of the physics of stars This book is a companion volume of What are the Stars by the same author I know of no other book on the evolution of stars of a similar scope and breadth that is so accessible for undergraduate students E P J van den Heuvel Professor of Astrophysics Winner of the Spinoza and Descartes Prizes University of Amsterdam The Netherlands Death Among the Stars Jean MARSH (pseud.), 1955 Death Among the Stars Kenneth Giles, 1968 The Life and Death of Stars Kenneth R.
