Remarks on the Phonological Evolution of Russian in Comparison with the Other Slavic Languages Roman Jakobson, 2023-10-31 The first English translation of a classic and groundbreaking work in historical phonology This is the first English translation of a groundbreaking 1929 work in historical phonology by the renowned linguist Roman Jakobson considered the founder of modern structural linguistics A revolutionary treatment of Russian and Slavic linguistics the book introduced a new type of historical linguistics that focused on the systematic reasons behind phonological change Rather than treating such changes as haphazard Jakobson here presents a teleological purposeful approach to language evolution He concludes by placing his book in the context of the exciting structural developments of the era including Einstein's theories Cezanne's art and Lev Berg's nomogenesis The original Russian version of the book was lost during the 1939 German invasion of Brno Czechoslovakia and the only edition available until now has been the French translation by Louis Brun Thus this first English translation offers many linguists their first opportunity to read a major early work of Jakobson Ronald Feldstein a leading Slavicist and phonologist in his own right has not only translated the text from French to English he has also worked to reconstruct something as close to the missing original as possible Feldstein's end of chapter annotations provide explanatory context for particularly difficult passages

A Grammar of Gaagudju Mark Harvey, 2011-07-22 Gaagudju is a previously undescribed and now nearly extinct language of northern Australia This grammar provides an overall description of the language Australian languages generally show a high degree of structural similarity to one another Gaagudju conforms to some of the common Australian patterns yet diverges significantly from others Thus while it has a standard Australian phonological inventory its prosodic systems differ from those of most

Australian languages with stressed and unstressed syllables showing marked differences in realisation Like many northern languages it has complex systems of both prefixation and suffixation to nominals and verbs Prefixation provides information about nominal classification 4 classes mood and pronominal cross reference Subjects Objects and Indirect Objects Suffixation provides information about case tense and aspect As in many languages there is a clear distinction between productive and unproductive morphology Gaagudju differs from most Australian languages in that a considerable amount of its morphology is unproductive showing complex and irregular allomorphic variation Gaagudju is like most Australian languages in that it may be described as a free word order language However word order is not totally free and strictly ordered phrasal compounding structures are significant e g in the formation of denominal verbs
