Developmental Patterning of the Vertebrate Limb J. Richard Hinchliffe, Juan M. Hurler, Dennis Summerbell, 2012-12-06

Following pioneering work by Harrison on amphibian limbs in the 1920s and by Saunders 1948 on the apical ridge in chick limbs limb development became a classical model system for investigating such fundamental developmental issues as tissue interactions and induction and the control of pattern formation Earlier international conferences at Grenoble 1972 Glasgow 1976 and Storrs Connecticut 1982 reflected the interests and technology of their time Grenoble was concerned with ectoderm mesenchyme interaction but by the time of the Glasgow meeting the zone of polarizing activity ZPA and its role in control of patterning was the dominant theme Storrs produced the first intimations that the ZPA could be mimicked by retinoic acid RA but the diversity of extracellular matrix molecules particularly in skeletogenesis was the main focus of attention By 1990 the paradigms had again shifted Originally the planners of the ARW saw retinoic acid as a possible morphogen controlling skeletal patterning the variety of extracellular matrix components and their roles and the developmental basis of limb evolution as the leading contemporary topics However as planning proceeded it was clear that the new results emerging from the use of homeobox gene probes first developed to investigate the genetic control of patterning of Drosophila embryos to analyse the localised expression of patterning genes in limb buds would also be an important theme

The Evolution of Developmental Mechanisms Michael Akam, 1994      Limb Development and Regeneration John F. Fallon, 1993-06-29 This volume in two parts appears at a pivotal time for the study of pattern formation The data from decades of experimental manipulation of the limb are now being used to help gain perspective and understanding on the explosion of descriptive information on the molecular biology of amniote development These proceedings of the Fourth International Conference on Limb Development and Regeneration held in Asilomar California July 1992 comprise 81 papers on such topics as the role of Hox genes in limb development expression of homeobox genes in limb regeneration why does a limb look like a limb lessons from extra digits analysis of the mutant axolotl short toes endothelial cell differentiation in the chick limb in vitro mammalian limb differentiation as an experimental model and retinoic acid and limb pattern formation Parts A and B are not sold separately Annotation c by Book News Inc Portland Or
