Coping with Being Gifted (JN). Sharon Carter,1992

Being Gifted in School Laurence J. Coleman, Tracy L. Cross, 2021-09-03 In this fully revised and expanded second edition Being Gifted in School: An Introduction to Development, Guidance, and Teaching reviews the past developments within the field of gifted education and identifies the current trends, issues, and beliefs in the field. This book offers the most comprehensive up-to-date introduction to the field of gifted education available. The authors, who are nationally recognized leaders in the field, discuss definitions and models of giftedness, identification of the gifted, teaching methods, and best practices, creativity, counseling, and guidance, administrative arrangements, and program prototypes and evaluation. The book is geared toward educators with questions regarding curricular and instructional implementation, administrators facing program planning, parents with an interest in their child's educational opportunities, and advanced undergraduate and graduate students curious about trends within gifted education. By recognizing both typical and atypical gifted students, the authors encourage readers to defy traditional assumptions about gifted children and their education.

Encyclopedia of Giftedness, Creativity, and Talent Barbara Kerr, 2009-06-17 The three-volume Encyclopedia of Giftedness, Creativity, and Talent presents state-of-the-art research and ready-to-use facts from the fields of education, psychology, sociology, and the arts.

Adolescent Coping Erica Frydenberg, 1997 Adolescence is a time when coping is very important when many new experiences and responsibilities are thrust upon individuals. Young people need to cope in a variety of settings, including school, home, peer groups, and the workplace, and with a range of life problems such as divorce and examinations. Frydenberg provides a clear account of current research and thinking on coping, illustrated by the voices of young people throughout the book. Adolescent Coping focuses on how young people manage a range of life problems and on the coping styles of particular groups such as the gifted and those with illness. The author addresses the relationships between coping and age, gender, and ethnicity, and between family functioning and coping. She also considers the measurements of coping, how we learn to cope, and such areas as social support and depression.

International Handbook on Giftedness Larisa Shavinina, 2009-08-12 If you publish, you are trying to create something that is original, that stands out from the crowd. Above all, you want to create something you are proud of. Richard Branson (2002, p. 57). After the publication of my bestselling International Handbook on Innovation, publishers from around the world began to invite me to work on new books with them. When Springer invited me to prepare the International Handbook on Giftedness, I was on a maternity leave with my 3-month-old and my 5-year-old was just starting school. I, however, had wanted to prepare such a handbook for a long time and was waiting for just the right moment to dive right into such an endeavor. The time had come, and I agreed to prepare a handbook that would expose readers to new views, great discoveries, and significant advancements of scientific knowledge, exactly as Richard Feynman advised. See his opening quote at the beginning of the introductory chapter: I have always been convinced of the paramount significance of the topic of giftedness and gifted education to the world as a whole There is no doubt that gifted individuals were and will be extremely important to society One way to understand the history of human civilization is via inventions and discoveries of the gifted All human cultural development builds on the amazing technological scientific and moral achievements of the human mind Today people increasingly realize that gifted and talented individuals are even more important than in the past

Methodologies for Conducting Research on Giftedness Bruce Thompson, Rena Faye Subotnik, 2010 Bruce Thompson and Rena F Subotnik have gathered a distinguished group of pioneers in measurement and statistics to offer creative solutions to a number of methodological challenges in research centered on gifted children

Smart Girls, Gifted Women Barbara A. Kerr, 1985 Social-emotional Curriculum with Gifted and Talented Students Joyce VanTassel-Baska, Tracy L. Cross, F. Richard Olenchak, 2009 A gifted education Legacy Award winner Social Emotional Curriculum With Gifted and Talented Students provides a thorough introduction to methods for developing social emotional curricula for use with gifted and talented learners in the school setting Including overviews of strategies that work for implementing social emotional strategies in the everyday curricula this book part of the Critical Issues in Equity and Excellence series a joint publication project of the National Association for Gifted Children and Prufrock Press combines research and experience from leading scholars in the field of the affective needs of gifted students in a convenient guide for teachers administrators and gifted education program directors The book covers theories to guide affective curricula the needs of minority students models to develop social emotional curricula tips for counseling gifted students and strategies to promote the social emotional needs of gifted students along with discussions of suicide prevention among this population the use of bibliotherapy and discussion groups and the teacher counselor connection in affective curricula This handy guide to developing social emotional curricula for gifted students is a necessity for anyone serving and working with this population Texas Association for the Gifted and Talented 2009 Legacy Book Award Winner Scholar
