New Insights into Corpora and Translation Daniel Gallego-Hernández,2016-05-11 This publication brings together some of the papers presented at the 4th International Conference on Corpus Use and Learning to Translate CULT which took place at the University of Alicante on 27-29 May 2015 organised by the University s Department of Translation and Interpreting Spanish and international researchers translator trainers and trainee and professional translators gathered at the conference in order to further their knowledge of corpus use translation training and professional practice The book includes contributions on the use of multilingual corpora in teaching scientific translation trans collocations in parallel corpora teaching and learning the language of tourism as a Language for Specific Purposes LSP and a collocational analysis of verb work in a specialised corpus of English non financial reports among others Lexis and Creativity in Translation Dorothy Kenny,2001 This computer assisted study of translation should be useful for anyone interested in corpus linguistics and its impact on translation studies It offers both theoretical and practical guidance for researchers who wish to conduct their own study Translation Assessment and Lexical Loss. A Corpus-Based Approach Khalid Shakir Hussein,Abdul-Haq Abdul-Kareem Abdullah Al-Sahlani,2019-04-10 Scientific Study from the year 2019 in the subject Speech Science Linguistics Thi Qar University College of Arts language English abstract Over the past 30 years corpus based investigations have witnessed unprecedented familiarity among the circles and trends of modern linguistic researchers The research potentialities are limitless and rather confusing The applications extremely proliferate every day ranging from language teaching forensic linguistics historical studies psycholinguistics cross cultural studies to translational studies This book chases one particular potentiality of corpus based studies related to the process of translation within a sort of assessment context The challenges are quite many starting with the scarcity of serious corpus based studies of Arabic and ending with the complex morphological variations between Arabic and English and the way these variations should be addressed within the context of a corpus based assessment of the translation as a process Knowing the criss cross nature of translation assessment the researchers focused on one specific feature to be traced in the source text and the target text s This feature scores the rates of lexical loss in both ST and TT to reach a sort of calculation that might measure the size of the gap between the lexicon sizes of both texts With the aid of corpus linguistics and stylistics in respect to their meeting area corpus stylistics the researchers measure the lexicons of three English translations those of Yusuf Pickthall and Muhammad which have shown different degrees of lexical loss in comparison with the original Arabic Quranic text These degrees go hand in hand with the size of the linguistic repertoire each translator utilizes in his translation to such an extent that it sounds rather promising to regard lexical loss measure as a trustworthy stylistic marker That is each translator has his own distinctive rate of lexical loss that might be an idiosyncratic marker of his translational style Information Technology Applications in Industry II Prasad Yarlagadda,Su Fen Yang,Keon Myung Lee,2013-09-03 Selected peer reviewed papers from the 2013 2nd International Conference on Information Technology and Management Innovation ICITMI 2013 July 23 24 2013 Zhuhai China

Translation and Cognition Gregory M. Shreve,Erik Angelone,2010 Translation and Cognition assesses the state of the art in cognitive translation and interpreting studies by examining three important trends methodological innovation the evolution of research design and the continuing integration of translation process research results with the core findings of the cognitive sciences Several of the volume s essays focus on fruitful new process research methods such as eye tracking and keystroke logging that have arisen to supplement the use of think aloud protocols Another set of contributions investigates how some central theories concepts and methods from our sister disciplines of psycholinguistics cognitive psychology and neuroscience can inform our understanding of translation processes and their development in novices and experts Yet another set of essays argues that methodological innovation and integration with the cognitive sciences can lead to more robust research designs and theoretical frameworks to explain the intricacies of cognitive processing during translation and interpreting Thus this timely volume actively demonstrates that a new theoretical and methodological consensus in cognitive translation studies is emerging promising to greatly improve the quality verifiability and generalizability of translation process research Translation Today ,2005 Proceedings of the ...
