Corinthian Hellenistic Pottery G. Roger Edwards, 1975 This report focuses on the pottery produced in Corinth in the Hellenistic period down to the time of that city's destruction by Mummius in 146 B C Imported pottery of the period as well as Corinthian Hellenistic ware found elsewhere has been deliberately excluded except as comparanda However in order to present the full history of the Hellenistic shapes the author traces their development from the earliest available Corinthian evidence in some cases from the 6th century B C The shape series are further subdivided according to size categories The catalogue is fully illustrated with profile drawings and photographs and two plans aid in identifying the deposits The material is arranged under Wheelmade Fine Ware Coarse Ware Blister Ware and Moulded Relief Ware and is followed by a discussion of the deposits and their chronology A special section is devoted to the fine ware decorated in West Slope style

Hellenistic Pottery Sarah A. James, 2018-08-20 Using deposits recently excavated from the Panayia Field this volume substantially revises the absolute chronology of Corinthian Hellenistic pottery as established by G Roger Edwards in Corinth VII 3 1975 This new research based on quantitative analysis of over 50 deposits demonstrates that the date range for most fine ware shapes should be lowered by 50 100 years Contrary to previous assumptions it is now possible to argue that local ceramic production continued in Corinth during the interim period between the destruction of the city in 146 B C and when it was refounded as a Roman colony in 44 B C This volume includes detailed shape studies and a comprehensive catalogue With its presentation of this revised Panayia Field chronology Corinth VII 7 is a long awaited and much needed addition to the Corinth series

Gnathia and related Hellenistic ware on the East Adriatic coast Maja Miše, 2015-10-31 This book aims to present Gnathia ware on the East Adriatic coast to define local Issaeon Gnathia production from manufacturing to distribution to identify other pottery workshops along the East Adriatic coast and finally to understand the trade and contacts in the Adriatic during the Hellenistic period

The Hellenistic Pottery from the Panayia Field, Corinth Sarah Anne James, 2010 The new chronology of Corinthian fine ware presented in this dissertation is based on pottery from the recently discovered Hellenistic deposits dated from the 3rd to 1st c B C in the Panayia Field This new Panayia Field chronology was created by first quantifying the pottery in each deposit and then seriating the deposits in order to plot the initial production and use life of individual ceramic shapes The results substantially revise the previous chronology of Corinthian Hellenistic pottery published in Corinth VII 3 which has long been acknowledged as problematic by scholars of the period One key aspect in which the Panayia Field chronology differs from its predecessor is in the recognition that pottery production resumed in Corinth after the sack of the city in 146 B C The evidence for a post 146 B C or interim period ceramic industry and its products are discussed in detail Using the new Panayia Field chronology the South Stoa and numerous previously excavated deposits at Corinth are re-assessed Arguably the most important Hellenistic structure in Corinth the South Stoa

now appears to have been begun in the 290s rather than the 330s B C Attempts are also made to address the cultural and economic history of Hellenistic Corinth for the first time For instance the adoption of certain shapes into the local ceramic assemblage illustrates the influence of the Hellenistic koine on Corinthian culture At the local level the continued production of ceramic kraters in the late 3rd to early 2nd c B C and their findspots seem to suggest that metal vessels were more commonly used in public spaces In terms of trade the data on imported fine ware and amphoras from more than 60 deposits clearly demonstrate the flow of goods through the city and Corinth s role in the trade networks of the Hellenistic period This analysis reveals a strong connection to Athens during the Macedonian occupation increasing contact with Italy and the Aegean beginning in the late 3rd c B C and the continuity of Corinth s economic contacts into the interim period This research therefore also contributes significantly to our understanding of this important commercial city s external contacts during the Hellenistic period

Mouldmade Bowls of the Black Sea Region and Beyond Pia Guldager Bilde,2024-04-15 This book opens up a new window into the Hellenistic world through a close study of mouldmade bowls their places of production both in the Black Sea and the Mediterranean iconographies and distribution The author s unique access to material in the Black Sea Region provides the backbone to a rare comparative approach to an important type of vessel that traditionally has been studied in local isolation

Hellenistic Sculpture Brunilde Sismondo Ridgway,1990 Now available in paperback this rigorous and challenging book questions the Hellenistic dating of many famous monuments based on careful examination of evidence Fluently written clearly organized and thoroughly and impeccably documented Anyone who has a serious interest in Hellenistic art will want to read it and refer to it Jerome J Pollitt Yale University

Corinth, the Centenary, 1896-1996 Charles K. Williams,Nancy Bookidis,2003 Twenty five papers presented at the December 1996 symposium held in Athens to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the American School of Classical Studies excavations at ancient Corinth The papers are intended to illustrate the range in subject matter of research currently being undertaken by scholars of ancient Corinth and their inclusion in one volume will serve as a useful reference work for nonspecialists Each of the topics which vary widely from Corinthian geology to religious practices to Byzantine pottery is presented by the acknowledged expert in that area The book includes a full general bibliography of articles and volumes concerning material excavated at Corinth As a summary of one hundred years research it will be useful to generations of scholars to come

Pemberton,2015-09-30 This volume continues the publication of excavations conducted by the American School of Classical Studies at Athens in the Sanctuary of Demeter and Kore on Acrocorinth It incorporates two bodies of material Greek lamps and offering trays The lamps include those made from the 7th through 2nd centuries B C together with a few Roman examples not included in Corinth XVIII 2 They served to provide light and to accompany the rites of sacrifice The offering trays differ from the liknon type offering trays published by A Brumfield they support a variety of vessels rather than types of food and had a symbolic function in the Sanctuary rituals They are extremely common in the Sanctuary and only rarely attested elsewhere The Land of the Paphian Aphrodite David William Rupp,Lone Wriedt Sørensen,1993 Pharos ,1993 Torone I Alexander Cambitoglou,John K.
