Asian Security 1996-1997:

Asian Security, 1997 Asian Security 1996-1997 Research Institute for Peace and Security, 1997 The Research Institute for Peace and Security RIPS is an independent research centre established in Tokyo in 1978 It has four aims to conduct research and studies concerned with international peace and security to promote greater public understanding of security issues to make policy recommendations where appropriate and to advance an international exchange of views and contacts with related institutes and specialists throughout the world Japan's Security Relations with China Since 1989 Reinhard Drifte, 2005-08-03 1 Japanese Chinese relations under Cold War conditions 2 The rise of traditional and non traditional security concerns 3 Between power balancing and enmeshment policies 4 The dynamics of engagement Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals, 1996 Thai Migrant Workers in East and Southeast Asia, 1996-1997 Suphāng Čhantawānit, Andreas Germershausen, Allan Beesey, 2000 Central Asian Security Roy Allison, Lena Jonson, 2004-05-13 This volume is the first comprehensive scholarly analysis of the strategic reconfiguration of Central Asia as Russia has become more disengaged from the nations in the region and as these nations have developed new relations to the south east and west The international implications are enormous because of the rich energy sources oil and natural gas located in the Caspian Sea area The authors assess a variety of internal security policy challenges confronting these states for example the potential for conflict arising from such factors as a mixed ethnic population resource scarcity particularly in relation to water management and an Islamic revival They also examine the security policy content of relations between the Central Asian states and regional and international powers specifically the stakes interests and policies of Russia China Iran Turkey and the United States These internal challenges and the evolution of relations with external powers may result in new cooperative relationships but they may also lead to destabilizing rivalry and interstate enmity in Central Asia It is important to identify new patterns of relevance for future security cooperation in the region but the potential for a new security system or for new institutions to manage security in the region remains uncertain These issues are explored by a team of prominent specialists from Western Europe the United States Russia and China International Security Management and the United Nations Muthiah Alagappa, Takashi Inoguchi, 1999 This book examines the ability of the UN to address security concerns based on its member states involvement visions of international security and contributed assets At a time when security issues are changing and becoming increasingly complex to address this will prove to be very useful for students and practitioners of international affairs Brassey's Mershon American Defense 1996-1997 Williamson Murray, Allan R. Millett, 1996-09 A comprehensive nonpartisan review and analysis of the major issues and trends in American national security policy China and East Asian Security in the Post-Cold War Era Yew Meng Lai, 1999 The authors analysis of Chinas relations with the countries of East Asia in the post Cold War era is seen from the perspectives of neorealism in general and by the utilization of the concepts of balance of power and the notion of strategic culture in particular It is boldly argued that China's behaviour towards other nations in East Asia is a source of great anxiety and tension. China with its military build up its provocations foreign and defence policies and others serve as a major security threat. In the final analysis the author calls for the United States to play a more assertive role in the region to counter balance China's potential expansionist goals. http://www.ums.edu.my/ppib/buku_lai.html

The Security Environment in the Asia-Pacific 2000 Pacific Asia rivals the Middle East and South Asia as the most insecure region on earth today. This timely volume presents a survey of major issues confronting the Asia Pacific region as it enters the new millennium. ASEAN's role in collective security concerns over China and the disputed territories in the South China Sea, conflict on the Korean peninsula, Japan's role in the post Cold War security order, United States interests in Pacific security and the relationship between Asian and European countries and governmental organizations.

Race and Ethnic Relations, 1996-1997 John A. Kromkowski, 1996 The Role of Knowledge Communities in Constructing Asia-Pacific Security See Seng Tan, 2007. This study addresses the dearth of critical and/or post-positivist perspectives in security studies of and about the Asia Pacific region. It demonstrates how regional communities of security specialists and intellectuals including knowledge communities such as ASEAN Institutes of Strategic and International Studies, ASEAN ISIS and the Council for Security Cooperation in the Asia Pacific (CSCAP) have contributed to just such a state-centric political imaginary at the expense of alternative ideas while promoting and legitimizing their own identities as authorities on regional security.

Asian Security Reassessed Steve Hoadley, Jürgen Rüländ, 2006. This book traces changes in the concept of security in Asia from realist to cooperative, comprehensive and human security approaches and assesses a number of policy alternatives to management of both old and new security threats. It surveys not only orthodox security threats such as tensions between regional powers or armed ethnic antagonists but also new sources of anxiety such as resource scarcity, economic instability, irregular migration, community fragmentation and international terrorism. Security policies of major powers such as China, Japan and the United States and the moderating roles of regional organizations such as ASEAN, ARF, SCO and KEDO are evaluated in historical and contemporary perspectives. Contributors proffer policy-relevant insights where appropriate. The book concludes that traditional security approaches remain valid but need to be adapted to the new challenges and offers suggestions for incorporating fresh Asian security perceptions into the agendas of policy-makers, analysts and scholars. Official Records, 1995.

Broadening Asia's Security Discourse and Agenda Ramesh Thakur, Ramesh Chandra Thakur, Edward Newman, 2004. Going beyond military threats and state-centric analysis, this publication demonstrates the importance of a broad security agenda that incorporates political, economic, social and environmental dimensions.

Maritime Security Between China and Southeast Asia Liselotte Odgaard, 2002. Providing substantial evidence that strategic competition between the United States, China and South East Asia promotes stability, Liselotte Odgaard argues that security relations between China and South East Asia are profoundly affected by disputes over maritime space and territory in the South China Sea. Suitable for scholars and graduate students of international relations international law security studies conflict management and regionalism this text will also be invaluable supplementary reading for undergraduate courses Subject Guide to Books in Print ,2001 Index of Conference Proceedings British Library. Document Supply Centre,1997 South Asia's Nuclear Security Dilemma Lowell Dittmer,2005 Nuclear testing and hostilities over Kashmir in 1999 marked a new turn in the enmity between India and Pakistan This book outlines the strategic structure of the rivalry and the dynamic forces driving it and investigates various possible solutions Contested Paradigms of Security in the Asia-Pacific Parama Sen,2003
