Enhanced Learning in an Introduction to Sociology Course

INDIANA UNIVERSITY–PURDUE UNIVERSITY INDIANAPOLIS (IUPUI), LOCATED IN a large metropolitan area, enrolls more than 29,000 students. Many of these students are the first in their families to go to college, commute to the campus for their classes, and have significant commitments—to work, spouses, children—that may interfere with their studies. Due in part to these conditions, the campus traditionally has experienced relatively low retention rates for first-year students (Allen, 1994; Borden and Rooney, 1998).

Many first-year IUPUI students enroll in two key courses, Introduction to Sociology and Elementary Composition I. Introduction to Sociology is required for some degree programs and fulfills a general education requirement for several others. Elementary Composition I is required of virtually every undergraduate student. In Fall 1998, 38.9 percent of students in Introduction to Sociology received a grade of D, F, or W (withdrew from the course). That same fall, of 114 students enrolled in both Introduction to Sociology and Elementary Composition I, 54 (47 percent) received grades of D, F, or W (DFW) in Introduction to Sociology and 49 (43 percent) received grades of DFW in Elementary Composition I. With a grant awarded by the Center for Academic Transformation at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute as part of the Pew Grant Program in Course Redesign, we set out to reduce the DFW rate for students enrolled in Introduction to Sociology. At its most fundamental level, our goal was to increase student learning by systematically enhancing the use of technology in Introduction to Sociology.

Redesigned Introduction to Sociology

The discipline of sociology has a long history of seeking to integrate computer technology into the classroom in a pedagogically effective manner. We drew on this history (Kain, 1987; Gigliotti, Smerglia, Falk, and Neiswander, 1994; Jaffee, 1997). Underlying
