Assumption Of Death:

Presumption of Death from Absence Harry Morton Gross,1928 The Metaphysics and Ethics of Death James Stacey Taylor,2013-10-03 The questions that surround death Is death a harm to the person who dies Should we be afraid of death Can the dead be harmed Can they be wronged have been of widespread interest since Classical times This interest is currently enjoying a renaissance across a broad spectrum of philosophical fields ranging from metaphysics to bioethics This volume is the first to bring together original essays that both address the fundamental questions of the metaphysics of death and explore the relationship between those questions and some of the areas of applied ethics in which they play a central role The essays in Part I of this volume examine some of the Classical approaches to fundamental metaphysical questions surrounding death addressing in particular the question of whether a person s death can be a harm to her The theme of the value of death is continued in Part II with essays addressing this issue through a more contemporary lens The essays in Part III address the related but separate issue of whether persons can be harmed by events that occur after they die Finally the essays in Part IV apply the metaphysical issues addressed in Parts I through III to various issues in bioethics including the question of posthumous organ procurement suicide and survival after brain injury Written by some of the most prominent philosophers working on these issues today the essays in this volume showcase the state of the art of both the metaphysics of death and its importance to many areas of applied ethics

Well-Being and Death Ben Bradley,2009-03-05 Well Being and Death addresses philosophical questions about death and the good life what makes a life go well Is death bad for the one who dies How is this possible if we go out of existence when we die Is it worse to die as an infant or as a young adult Is it bad for animals and fetuses to die Can the dead be harmed Is there any way to make death less bad for us Ben Bradley defends the following views pleasure rather than achievement or the satisfaction of desire is what makes life go well death is generally bad for its victim in virtue of depriving the victim of more of a good life death is bad for its victim at times after death in particular at all those times at which the victim would have been living well death is worse the earlier it occurs and hence it is worse to die as an infant than as an adult death is usually bad for animals and fetuses in just the same way it is bad for adult humans things that happen after someone has died cannot harm that person the only sensible way to make death less bad is to live so long that no more good life is possible
