Camera Buff:

The Cinema of Krzysztof Kieslowski Marek Haltof, 2004 Since his death in 1996 Krzysztof Kieslowski has remained the best known contemporary Polish filmmaker and one of the most popular and respected European directors internationally renowned for his ambitious Decalogue and Three Colors trilogy In this new addition to the Directors Cuts series Marek Haltof provides a comprehensive study of Kieslowski's cinema discussing industrial practices in Poland and stressing that the director did not fit the traditional image of a great East Central European auteur He draws a fascinating portrait of the stridently independent director's work noting that Kieslowski was not afraid to express unpopular views in film or in life Haltof also shows how the director's work remains unique in the context of Polish documentary and narrative cinema

1941 he was only fifty four years old when he died Kieslowski himself tried to tell the story of his life and career in the 1993 book Kieslowski on Kieslowski This collection by contrast reveals the shifting voice of a filmmaker who was initially optimistic about his social and cultural role then felt himself buffeted by the turbulent politics and events of the People s Republic of Poland As described in the chronology in this book he found himself subject to the economic censorship of post Communist filmmaking How Kieslowski responded at each moment of his life what he tried to achieve with each of his films is finely detailed in thirty five selections These pieces bring together his thesis from the famous Lodz film school a manifesto written just before the dark days of martial law in Poland diary entries from the first time he was working outside Poland and numerous rare interviews from Polish French and English language sources

Orphans of the East Constantin Parvulescu, 2015-06-08 An analysis of films produced in post World War II Eastern Europe featuring the trope of the orphan and the issues these characters addressed Unlike the benevolent orphan found in Charlie Chaplin s The Kid or the sentimentalized figure of Little Orphan Annie the orphan in postwar Eastern European cinema takes on a more politically fraught role embodying the tensions of individuals struggling to recover from war and grappling with an unknown future under Soviet rule By exploring films produced in postwar Hungary the German Democratic Republic Czechoslovakia Romania and Poland Constantin Parvulescu traces the way in which cinema envisioned and debated the condition of the post World War II subject and the new man of Soviet style communism In these films the orphan becomes a cinematic trope that interrogates socialist visions of ideological institutionalization and re education and stands as a silent critic of the system s shortcomings or as a resilient spirit who has resisted capture by the political apparatus of the new state By using the trope of an orphan Constantin Parvulescu demonstrates how films made in countries such as Hungary East Germany Poland Czechoslovakia and Romania reflected on the specific problems affecting Eastern Europe after 1945 such as the loss of population economic backwardness the legacy of the Holocaust while engaging in wider debates especially the superiority of socialism over capitalism Economically and elegantly written it demonstrates that cinema produced in the periphery can be central to our understanding of films as ideological tools This is one of the best books on Eastern European cinema ever written Ewa Mazierska University of Central Lancashire Groundbreaking The author s comparative transnational perspective in chapters devoted to close textual analyses of each narrative demonstrates the value of reading film as a primary source for understanding the relationships among state power intergenerational trauma and revolutionary subjectivity Parvulescu s highly original portrayal of a landscape of parentless children evokes the trauma of war and the specificity of the socialist experiment in the former Eastern Bloc Catherine Portuges University of Massachusetts Amherst Parvulescu has taken a highly innovative approach to socialist and post socialist cinema in the region and one that is vividly illustrated by a superb selection of films Studies in European Cinema
