

Calculation and Adjustment of Interest in Civil Litigation (Rule of Appropriation of Interest)

Case Law- Gurpreet Singh V. Union of India

(on paragraph 43)

Thus, on the whole, we are satisfied that the essential ratio in the Prem Nath Kapur (supra) on appropriation being at different stages is justified though if at a particular stage there is a shortfall, the awardee decree holder would be entitled to appropriate the same on the general principle of appropriation, first towards interest, then towards costs and then towards the principal, unless, of course, the deposit is indicated to be towards specified heads by the judgment debtor while making the deposit intimating the decree-holder of his intention. We, thus, approve the ratio of Prem Nath Kapur (supra) on the aspect of appropriation.

Engineering Jeffrey S. Russell, 2003-01-01 This report contains 27 papers that serve as a testament to the state of the art of civil engineering at the outset of the 21st century as well as to commemorate the ASCE's Sesquicentennial Written by the leading practitioners educators and researchers of civil engineering each of these peer reviewed papers explores a particular aspect of civil engineering knowledge and practice Each paper explores the development of a particular civil engineering specialty including milestones and future barriers constraints and opportunities The papers celebrate the history heritage and accomplishments of the profession in all facets of practice including construction facilities special structures engineering mechanics surveying and mapping irrigation and water quality forensics computing materials geotechnical engineering hydraulic engineering and transportation engineering While each paper is unique collectively they provide a snapshot of the profession while offering thoughtful predictions of likely developments in the years to come Together the papers illuminate the mounting complexity facing civil engineering stemming from rapid growth in scientific knowledge technological development and human populations especially in the last 50 years An overarching theme is the need for systems level approaches and consideration from undergraduate education through advanced engineering materials processes technologies and design methods and tools These papers speak to the need for civil engineers of all specialties to recognize and embrace the growing interconnectedness of the global infrastructure economy society and the need to work for more sustainable life cycle oriented solutions While embracing the past and the present the papers collected here clearly have an eye on the future needs of ASCE and the civil engineering profession

Civil Litigation Case Study Janis L. Walter, 2008-05 Our Case Studies CD ROM Series was designed to give students an opportunity to learn by doing Most textbook case scenarios are usually brief and only give pieces of the whole case Actual case files with the court typically contain issues too complicated for beginning students the documents are too lengthy or they are often incomplete since discovery devices are not filed with the court Instructors can create their own cases but it is often a burden because of the time commitment With this series the work is done for them Each CD ROM contains a case file a series of documents that would be found in a litigation criminal law or family law file Documents will be included in their entirety instead of as abbreviated versions The student will therefore be involved in working on an entire case and not just parts of a case Each case will be simplistic to appeal to the beginning student but will still be realistic An extensive list of assignments is provided for the instructor to select from None of the cases are state or time specific so they can be used in any jurisdiction at any time With these CDs the student will be able to analyze cases while producing legal documents and preparing legal research just as paralegals do in actual law offices By completing these exercises a paralegal can develop the practical skills necessary to function as a valuable and effective member of a legal team
