BEHAVIORAL ARCHAEOLOGY

The background of the cover is a light green color. It features a central horizontal band of a darker green color. Above and below this band are various botanical and archaeological illustrations in a light green, semi-transparent style. These include what appear to be ancient pottery or stone vessels, some with intricate patterns, and various types of seeds, nuts, and plant parts, such as a nut with its shell cracked open to show the kernel, and a small plant with roots. The overall theme is the intersection of biology and archaeology.
