Debt Poems:

Debt Mark Levine, 2018 Poetry The 25th Anniversary Edition of DEBT the National Poetry Series Winner and debut poetry collection by Mark Levine With a new introduction by Srikanth Reddy The velocity of these poems will induce motion sickness in some readers and exhilaration in others But Levine's aerial acrobatics always return us largely intact to common ground It might even be sacred ground For all its existentialist pratfalls and murderous chicanery DEBT is a profoundly elegiac work from its dedicatory epitaph to the final poem's darkling closure Our heaviest debt the most timeless poems remind us is to the historical dead Srikanth Reddy from the new introduction

Debt Mark Levine, 1993 The Debt (Poems). Andreae Callanan, 2018 The Debt is a collection of poems exploring tensions between tradition and innovation between past and present Set largely against the backdrop of post moratorium St John's Newfoundland the collection is based on my own experiences as the product of a province unmoored by loss and grief The opening long poem Crown sets the tone for the project juxtaposing formal verse and prose poetry in a vernacular commentary on culture and social class The Debt is about development and change idleness and activism ecological stewardship feminism motherhood the personal and the political It is also about resistance against the encroaching forces of greed and capitalism even against the accumulated notions of the self The poems are an argument for community and connection in an age increasingly associated with isolation of the individual The Debt explores the dues we all owe to nature to those who came before us and to one another

Breath Debt Therese L. Broderick, 2022-05-04 Breath Debt Poems is suffused with gratitude for the airborne voices songs and gestures of loved ones friends passing strangers and creatures of the natural world From the soft inhalations of three little girls taking Holy communion to the quiet exhalations of backyard grass cut with only a pair of scissors from the buoyancy of a breathtakingly beautiful full moon hovering above Dubai to the suppressed respiration of dancers lying flat upon a stage the poems in Broderick's first full-length collection flow with grace and ease some as lyrics in the form of sonnets or triolets and others as elliptical meditations Although finely tuned to the everyday marvels in the life of an ordinary housewife and mother this body of work does not shy away from family difficulties and tragedies a war veteran's fatal emphysema a child's birth defect and the catastrophic morning of September 11 2001 Breath Debt Poems offers its readers refreshingly clear vivid scenes full of personality as well as capacious language full of real feeling Dip into this deeply rewarding book and return to your own original breath

Poems Peter Magennis, 1889 The Book of Scottish Poems: Ancient and Modern John Ross, 1884 Poems Coventry Patmore, 1915 The Poems and Stories of Fitz-James O'Brien Fitz James O'Brien, William Winter, 1881 Literature and Race in the Democracy of Goods Christopher Chen, 2022-03-24 Examining three literary traditions post 1960 Asian American Asian Canadian and Black experimental poetry this book reframes contemporary scholarly accounts of post war North American comparative racial group formation demonstrating how such poetry investigates contemporary Black Asian relations and maps the complex co

constitution of race and capitalism at different spatial scales Offering extended close readings of contemporary Black Asian American and Asian Canadian experimental poets such as Myung Mi Kim Erica Hunt Larissa Lai and Ed Roberson this book argues that these writers redefine race as a changing and politically contested form of constraint and possibility powerfully shaped by economic history and capitalist globalization This study retheorizes some basic terms of analysis of contemporary US poetry and poetics critical race and ethnic studies racial capitalism and contemporary theories of comparative and relational racialization
