

What Does It Look Like?

Deep Play occurs when the children feel at risk while having fun and are deep in the adventure of their play.

The environment contains potential dangers such as:

- ⊖ depth, height and speeds the children consider to be high
- ⊖ moving and noisy tools
- ⊖ something and thought not to be done

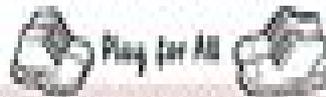

⊖ something that can act as:

- ⊖ something to be taken or lost
- ⊖ someone
- ⊖ noisy animals

Before and throughout Deep Play, whenever it finished, the adult needs to observe the rules and clearly observe the children play while encouraging dialogue about the play and potential risks.

Young children who learn to walk and balance engage in Deep Play. Children climbing trees, building rock towers and hanging from play equipment also engage in Deep Play. Adults using bumpers, jumping and rock climbing engage in risky play. The risk needs to be appropriate to the age group and such enough that an injury might be possible but is not expected. Most importantly, the experience should be fun, engaging and thrilling.

What is Deep Play?

Deep Play refers to play that involves taking risks and being adventurous. It can occur alongside any other type of play and can be considered more of a mood than an activity. Play alone does not guarantee Deep Play will occur, but some activities which involve risk-taking are more likely to involve Deep Play.

What Are the Benefits?

- ⊖ survival skills
- ⊖ resilience and endurance
- ⊖ overcoming fears
- ⊖ learning and self-trust
- ⊖ building independence
- ⊖ growing in strength
- ⊖ dealing with rules in the future
- ⊖ manual dexterity
- ⊖ confidence and self-esteem

Think Outside the Box

Good outside play space to explore and experience the weather and seasons while being challenging. Provide resources and settings that encourage Deep Play but which have been carefully considered to avoid harm.

The space include the building, lighting and cooling or heat, climbing, exploring, dirt, building and creating.

No Obstacle Too Big

Not this might be, but as the children figure it out. Allow children to create their own obstacle course, engineering them to create risky play experiences at their level and which they are able to engage with and are comfortable with.

But remember... what we say influences play. Avoid phrases such as, "Be careful!" when a phrase such as, "Are you safe?" will encourage the children to perform their own risk assessments and adjustments.
