A Fragile City:

Fragile Cities in the Developed World J David Selby, Kevin C. Desouza, 2018 Cities like any complex adaptive systems may become increasingly fragile if not properly managed To date the literature has focused primarily on the examination of cities within fragile countries This has resulted in a dearth of studies that have looked at how developed or even advanced cities that operate in relatively stable countries and or environments might allow unresolved issues to accumulate in the city degrading its ability to function Studying fragility in developed cities is a worthwhile undertaking given their economic social and political significance This paper puts forth a conceptual framework to understand the nature of fragile cities in the developed world Our framework frames fragility as a function of unresolved fractures of social compacts that degrades a city s ability to function over time and stress exacerbates its effects Drawing on over two dozen incidents from developed cities we ground the framework and illustrate its value

Latinx Comics Studies Fernanda Díaz-Basteris, Maite Urcaregui, 2025 Latinx Comics Studies considers the role of comics and graphic narrative in picturing the rich realities of Latinx communities It brings together groundbreaking critical essays practical reflections original and republished short comics to explore how comics by for and about Latinx peoples creatively and conceptually experiment with the very boundaries of Latinx

Transitioning to Sustainable Cities and Communities, 2024-11-14 In developing alternative approaches to urban development in response to the societal challenge of living in ever expanding cities this Volume on the SDG11 Sustainable Cities and Communities proposes the concept of an Urbanising Earth We question the dominant model of Western cities and their resultant global warming leading to the replacement of natural environments with artificial ones The Volume features over twenty practical and metaphorical cases from experienced practitioners to emerging design thinkers each of whom offer interconnected reflections on the research design and implementation of projects anchored in architecture and design arguments promoting a more balanced view of the built and natural environment These reflections designed to engage readers highlight the collective effort needed for sustainable urban development The Volume aims to facilitate design as a learning process for society to reconcile human and environmental rights while celebrating the art of cultivating and living in this urban age The right to education and housing can create synergies providing parks and public spaces to underprivileged neighbourhoods The overall aim is to connect thinking with actions while considering what modernism in architecture and urban planning is today In doing this the Volume sheds light on the condition of contemporary design itself We draw from limitless approaches to the fundamental challenges and critical discussions presented to us by this Urbanising Earth

Ethical Cities Brendan F.D. Barrett, Ralph Horne, John Fien, 2020-12-06 Combining elements of sustainable and resilient cities agendas together with those from social justice studies and incorporating concerns about good governance transparency and accountability the book presents a coherent conceptual framework for the ethical city in which to embed existing and new activities within cities so as to guide local action The authors observations are derived from city specific surveys and urban case studies These reveal how progressive cities are promoting a diverse range of ethically informed approaches to urbanism such as community wealth building basic income initiatives participatory budgeting and citizen assemblies The text argues that the ethical city is a logical next step for critical urbanism in the era of late capitalism characterised by divisive politics burgeoning inequality widespread technology induced disruptions to every aspect of modern life and existential threats posed by climate change sustainability imperatives and pandemics Engaging with their communities in meaningful ways and promoting positive transformative change ethical cities are well placed to deliver liveable and sustainable places for all rather than only for wealthy elites Likewise the aftermath of shocks such as the 2008 Global Financial Crisis and the Covid 19 pandemic reveals that cities that are not purposeful in addressing inequalities social problems unsustainability and corruption face deepening difficulties Readers from across physical and social sciences humanities and arts as well as across policy business and civil society will find that the application of ethical principles is key to the pursuit of socially inclusive urban futures and the potential for cities and their communities to emerge from or at least ameliorate a diverse range of local national and global challenges

Urban Disaster Resilience David Sanderson, Jerold Kayden, Julia Leis, 2016-04-14 Accelerating urbanization worldwide means more urban centered disasters Floods earthquakes storms and conflicts affecting densely populated areas produce significant losses in lives livelihoods and the built environment especially in comparison to rural areas Poor urban dwellers almost always the most vulnerable too often bear the brunt Aid agencies and urban professionals have been slowly adapting to these new conditions but older models and practices hinder the most effective engagements Drawing directly from the experiences of urban disasters in the Philippines Chile India Thailand Iraq Haiti and Nepal among other countries Urban Disaster Resilience brings to light new collaborations and techniques for addressing the challenges of urban disasters in the coming years Chapters range from country specific case studies to more synthetic frameworks in order to promote innovative thinking and practical solutions Edited by David Sanderson Jerold S Kayden and Julia Leis this book is a crucial read for humanitarian and disaster specialists urban planners and designers architects landscape architects housing and economic development professionals real estate developers private business managers and students interested in the subject whether based in non governmental organizations local state or national governments international agencies private firms or the academy

City Schools and City Politics John Portz, Lana Stein, Robin R. Jones, 1999 An explanation of why some US cities are better at educational reform than others It relates education to politics showing how the whole village can be mobilized to better educate tomorrow s citizens It is based on an 11 city study of civic capacity and urban education

How nations live together ,1923 The American City Arthur Hastings Grant, Harold S. Buttenheim, 1939 The Ecology of City Policymaking Robert J. Waste, 1989 Offering an important new way of analyzing urban public policy a theoretical life cycle of the policy making process in American cities this book explains many crucial aspects of urban policy formulation how issues emerge and get on the agendas of local governments how policy makers translate issues into policy how the age of cities affects the content and process of policy making and how pluralist coalitions form and participate in city politics Waste s ecology model highlights the strengths and weaknesses of current methods of dealing with problems such as crime inadequate public schools aging infrastructures pollution poverty and toxic waste disposal The book offers a major service to urban and policy scholars by combining theories and concerns that are generally relegated either to public policy or studies of urban politics providing both theoretical and case study linkage between the two areas An important and original contribution this book will be of great interest to all who study urban affairs or policy making and to officials involved in public administration Florence and the Cities of Northern Tuscany Edward Hutton, 1908 The Cities of St. Paul Sir William Mitchell Ramsay, 1907
Florence and Northern Tuscany with Genoa Edward Hutton, 1914 Building Civic Capacity ,2001 The authors of this volume argue that urban education is in urgent need of reform and that although there have been plenty of innovative and even promising attempts to improve conditions most have been doomed The reason for this they agree lies in the failure of our major cities to develop their civic capacity The ability to build and maintain a broad social and political coalition across all sectors of the urban community in pursuit of a common goal Panama to Patagonia Charles Melville Pepper, 1906 A Descriptive Catalog of the Mollusca of Utah Ralph Vary Chamberlin, David Tracy Jones, 1929 A Descriptive Catalog of the Mollusca of Utah Angus Munn Woodbury, J. Sedley Stanford, Ralph Vary Chamberlin, Wilton Ivie, 1929 The Cities of Umbria Edward Hutton, 1913 Revitalizing Urban Neighborhoods William Dennis Keating, Norman Krumholz, Philip Star, 1996 Since the 1950s and the advance of urban renewal local governments and urban policy have focused heavily on the central business district However such development has all but ignored the inner city neighborhoods that continue to struggle in the shadows of high rise America This analysis of urban neighborhoods in the United States from 1960 to 1995 presents fifteen essays by scholars of urban planning and development Together they show how urban neighborhoods can and must be preserved as economic cultural and political centers "Italian Cities and Landscapes," Cesare Rossi, Marco Boroli, 1927
