Trade and Technology Networks in the Chinese Textile Industry Carles Brasó Broggi, 2016-04-29 The aim of this book is to track the historical origins of China

s economic reforms From the 1920s and 1930s strong ties were built between Chinese textile industrialists and foreign machinery importers in Shanghai and the Yangzi Delta Despite the fragmentation of China the contribution of these networks to the modernization of the country was important and longstanding Facing the challenge of growing in a fragmented country Chinese textile firms such as Dafeng Dacheng and Lixin focused on urban markets and also on importing technology for upgrading their production When the war against Japan blocked trade routes inside China these networks were concentrated in Shanghai where they envisaged an export oriented development strategy for China that was based on importing machinery and exporting manufactured products However this strategy was only implemented precariously in Shanghai while the city stood as a neutral space in the first years of the Japanese occupation but was only consolidated in Hong Kong in the late 1940s where textile industrialist and most of the foreign importers migrated These networks were thus reestablished in Hong Kong where they contributed to the city s industrialization in the Cold War period Meanwhile the Chinese industrialists that stayed in Shanghai and the Yangzi Delta had to adapt to the Maoist regime and were progressively incorporated into the state owned companies or the local government agencies such as the United Front or the Textile bureaus However from the early 1970s the links between Hong Kong and Shanghai were reactivated and these networks played again a key role in the modernization of China especially regarding the imports of technology and exports of manufactured goods The book ends with the first joint ventures between Hong Kong businessmen and Chinese local administrations that took place in the beginnings of China s economic reforms in 1979

The Rise of China and India in Africa Fantu Cheru,Cyril Obi,2010-03-11 In recent years China and India have become the most important economic partners of Africa and their footprints are growing by leaps and bounds transforming Africa s international relations in a dramatic way Although the overall impact of China and India s engagement in Africa has been positive in the short term partly as a result of higher returns from commodity exports fuelled by excessive demands from both countries little research exists on the actual impact of China and India s growing involvement on Africa s economic transformation This book examines in detail the opportunities and challenges posed by the increasing presence of China and India in Africa and proposes critical interventions that African governments must undertake in order to negotiate with China and India from a stronger and more informed platform

Chinese Textiles Alan Priest,1931 Weaving China's Past Claudia Brown,Robert D. Mowry,2000 Western admiration of China s silk textiles dates back at least to the days of the Roman empire The establishment of the Chinese republic caused a large number of imperial costumes no longer needed for court ritual to enter collectors hands Textiles curators have studied these in depth yet American museums are just recently beginning to explore the broader topic of Chinese textiles and to present splendid examples of the art along with porcelains bronzes enamels and other decorative art traditions of China Weaving China s Past examines an extraordinary private collection of Chinese textiles of diverse styles functions and techniques The collection is remarkable for its chronological expanse with works ranging in date from the Song 960 1279 and Jin 1115 1234 dynasties through the Qing dynasty 1644 1911 The book examines the relationship of these textiles to the greater fabric of Chinese art Pieces in the collection have been subjected to microscopic examination and radiocarbon dating as well as full examination by a textiles conservator and the results of these studies are included The yarn type thread count weave and supplementary materials are identified Several of the brocades feature gold fibers and these have been analyzed to identify specific techniques A remarkable discovery was the use of peacock feathers twisted with silk fibers in a kesi woven during the Qing dynasty The study of Chinese silk textiles like the study of Chinese ceramics and metalwork offers a glimpse into a complex tradition in which both organized industry and individual creativity played a role Traditional China viewed spinning weaving and embroidery as divinely inspired arts to be practiced dutifully in the home Concurrently however luxury textiles were commissioned for religious state and private use Silk was essential in China s foreign policy used along with gifts of tea and silver to pacify borderlands Together with porcelain silk became a major commodity for export to Europe Elaborate techniques were developed for producing complex designs in both brocade and embroidery During China s later dynasties textile arts were pursued as fine arts appreciated on equal footing with painting and calligraphy
