A Primer Of Operant Conditioning

Richard Bailey

A Primer Of Operant Conditioning:

A Primer of Operant Conditioning George Stanley Reynolds, 1968 This primer is a concise yet detailed account of the theory and principles of operant conditioning based largely on the works of B F Skinner and his first and second generation intellectual descendants Despite the ubiquity influence and impact of operant principals within the fields of motivation emotion language thinking learning and ethics its impact and insights have gone widely unattributed and many of its principles are largely misunderstood A primary purpose of this primer is to dispel those misunderstandings

Understanding Applied Behavior Analysis, Second Edition Albert J. Kearney, 2015-06-21 This introductory guide to ABA demystifies the often complex terminology the underlying principles and commonly used procedures of ABA using accessible everyday language This revised and updated edition reflects recent developments and introduces new key terms Albert J Kearney explains the kinds of learning and reinforcement processes that form the basis of ABA programs Having covered these essential principles he describes how the science of behavior analysis can be effectively applied to real life behavior problems He looks at how behavior is assessed and various intervention techniques that are often employed with children who have autism and other special needs Having laid these essential foundations Kearney touches on more advanced topics the applications of ABA in behavioral education such as precision teaching and programmed instruction

Lectures on Theories of Learning Dennis Ford, 2019-06-18 Lectures on Theories of Learning explores the maze of conditioning principles and concepts that guided research in American experimental psychology in the twentieth century The main trails on our journey are the historical theories of learning Edward Thorndike and the laws of learning Ivan Pavlov and classical conditioning John Watson and the first behaviorism Edwin Guthrie and one trial learning Edward Tolman and the cognitive map Clark Hull and drive reduction Donald Hebb and physiological psychology B F Skinner and radical behaviorism Each trail leads to further intellectual excursions orientations in the study of learning operationism and fallibilism habituation and sensitization a primer on operant conditioning schedules of reinforcement the uses and abuses of punishment escape and avoidance learning There are no blind alleys in Lectures on Theories of Learning as it sagely winds its way through the history of American psychology From the commencement in lecture 1 to the conclusions in lecture 15 students will experience an informed and informal journey of psychological discoveries and intellectual enrichment
