Animals That Changed History:

Fifty Animals That Changed the Course of History Eric Chaline, 2011 A fascinating and beautifully presented guide to the animals that have had the greatest impact on human civilisation through the ages FIFTY ANIMALS THAT CHANGED THE COURSE OF HISTORY is a beautifully illustrated book that uncovers the fascinating stories of creatures great and small These are the animals that have played a central role in the evolution of humankind and modern society but remain at the periphery of our understanding of history Take for example the horse which has been used in warfare since the fourth millennium BC and helped the Mongols to conquer nearly all of continental Asia the Middle East and parts of Europe or the silkworm vital to textile manufacturing for over 5 500 years and the trigger for trade between China and Europe along what became known as the Silk Road or the flea Xenopsylla cheopis spreader of the Black Death which claimed up to 100 million lives in the mid 1300s Often these animals provide a window onto a specific episode in history such as the beaver which drove hunters and trappers into previously unexplored regions of Canada and the northern US as part of the fur trade or the finch which helped Charles Darwin to formulate his theory of natural selection In order to justify the assertion that they literally changed the course of history each animal is judged by its influence in four categories edible animals that have shaped agriculture such as the cow medical animals that are disease vectors spreading bacteria and viruses from malaria to the plague commercial animals used for trade or in manufacturing and practical animals used for transportation or clothing

Animals that Changed History Joan Elma Rahn, 1986 Discusses the effects on history for better or worse made by the horse rat and beaver Perilous Beasts Stephen B. Neufeld, 2026-01-13 A deep dive into the history of bullfighting hunting and animal control in late nineteenth and early twentieth century Mexico In Perilous Beasts Stephen B Neufeld explains how and why Mexicans accepted animal death as a part of daily human life Whether with casual indifference or with roaring cheers the death of animals became a feature of the emerging liberal and capitalist society This study looks at an era between 1870 and 1920 when cities became killers sports became spectacle and wildlife became game Beasts died for science and entertainment all across turn of the century Mexico from cities and suburbs to wildernesses best exemplified by the proliferation of blood sports cockfighting bullfighting and hunting Neufeld explores topics including public health and the war against rabies the emergence of the bullring as modern entertainment and the deep contradictions between elite safari and indigenous foodways Perilous Beasts examines how Mexicans made sense of and culture from these practices Although some pushed back and demanded the abolition of practices like the bullfight many supported these sports with enthusiasm and even at times with full throated rioting and arson As animals lost their status as fellow beings they became casualties to the genocidal impulses of a changing society Through considerations of how the human animal justified killing dogs roosters bulls and other creatures for reasons beyond strict necessity Perilous Beasts explains the necropolitical ecology and power of a transformed Mexico

The Young Folks' Cyclopædia of Natural History John Denison Champlin,1905 The Strangest Animals in the World Stanislaw Talalaj,Janusz Talalaj,1993 Describes the habits and characteristics of many peculiar animals Also outlines mysteries and myths associated with certain animals such as crocodiles rats and baboons Indexed Stanislaw Talalaj has published a number of research papers and co authored four books including The Strangest Plants in the World

Best Books for Junior High Readers John T. Gillespie,1991 Provides an annotated listing of recommended reading material for students in grades seven through nine Multispecies Futures Roman Bartosch,Liza B. Bauer,Alexandra Böhm,Micha Gerrit Philipp Edlich,Greta Gaard,Björn Hayer,Andreas Hübner,Michaela Keck,Maria Moss,Jobst Paul,Mieke Roscher,Pamela Steen,Nils Steffensen,2022-06-14 In light of the dramatic growth and rapid institutionalization of human animal studies in recent years it is somewhat surprising that only a small number of publications have proposed practical and theoretical approaches to teaching in this inter and transdisciplinary field Featuring eleven original pedagogical interventions from the social sciences and the humanities as well as an epilogue from ecofeminist critic Greta Gaard the present volume addresses this gap and responds to the demand by both educators and students for pedagogies appropriate for dealing with environmental crises The theoretical and practical contributions collected here describe new ways of teaching human animal studies in different educational settings and institutional contexts suggesting how learners equipped with key concepts such as agency or relationality can develop empathy and ethical regard for the more than human world and especially nonhuman animals As the contributors to this volume show these cognitive and affective goals can be achieved in many curricula in secondary and tertiary education By providing learners with the tools to challenge human exceptionalism in its various guises and related patterns of domination and exploitation in and outside the classroom these interventions also contribute to a much needed transformation not only of today s educational systems but of society as a whole This volume is an invitation to beginners and experienced instructors alike an invitation to re consider how we teach human animal studies and how we could and should prepare learners for an uncertain future in ideally a more egalitarian and just multispecies world With contributions by Roman Bartosch Liza B Bauer Alexandra B hm Micha Gerrit Philipp Edlich Greta Gaard Bj rn Hayer Andreas H bner Michaela Keck Maria Moss Jobst Paul Mieke Roscher Pamela Steen and Nils Steffensen
