Development Process A Spatial Perspectiv:

The Development Process Akin L. Mabogunje,1989 The Development Process Akin Mabogunje,2015-12-14 Written from the perspective of developing countries this book discusses the development process from a spatial perspective focussing particularly on the evoluion of the intra national space economy With emphasis on African nations this book offers a distinctive interpretation of the current situation and policy prescriptions differing significantly from previous literature in the area

Rethinking Institutions, Processes and Development in Africa Ernest Aniche,Toyin Falola,2021-10-18 African scholarship concerning the nexus between institutions and development is still dominated by the economic perspective of development despite the emergence of the humanistic perspective of development The humanistic perspective is a more embracing encompassing and comprehensive view of development than its economic counterpart and offers a better explanation of the African situation It is essential to examine the relationships between democratic political institutions and human development This collection examines democratic institutions and processes in post independence Africa The contributors examine the political institutional processes in post colonial Africa evaluating the workings of institutions such as education bureaucracy interest groups trade unions and problems of enforcements in Africa It also discusses the relevance of creative arts for political socialization as well as the role effects of privatization on service delivery in contemporary African societies

Key Thinkers on Space and Place Mary Gilmartin,Phil Hubbard,Rob Kitchin,Sue Roberts,2024-05-11 Space and place are at the heart of how geographers and sociologists think This updated edition of the essential undergraduate text will introduce you to the most influential thinkers in the tradition of social theory with a new focus on the past fifty years This book is designed to engage with theoretical debates in human geography through the individuals who have made the most significant contributions to this field This will show you how ideas are shaped by contexts and how those ideas in turn effect change This book shows how theoretical understandings evolve shift and change It also highlights the connections between different thinkers whose ideas are developed in collaboration with or in reaction to others Spatial thought is never developed in a vacuum but is always constructed by individuals and groups of people located in particular institutional and social structures with their own sets of personal and political beliefs The biographical approach of this book reveals how individual thinkers draw on a rich legacy of ideas from past and contemporary generations With increased coverage of international and female thinkers as well as those who work against Eurocentric notions of space and place this book reveals the exciting reorientation of Geography towards new ideas and methods in the last decade Each entry contextualises its subject within on going inter disciplinary debates and important political moments as well as highlighting connections between different thinkers Together the chapters uncover the rich and diverse evolution of social theory equipping you with the foundational ideas of geographical thought Each entry offers the following components i a short biography ii an explanation of ideas iii an exploration of how their ideas have been used and critiqued iv a selective bibliography of key publications and key publications which review or critique Empathy in a Broader Context: Development, Mechanisms, Remediation Simon Surguladze, Dessa Bergen-Cico, 2020-07-17 The development process Akin L. Mabogunje, 1984 The Nigerian Journal of Development Studies, 1981 Regional Development Dialogue, 1981 An international journal focusing on third world development problems Decentralized Development in Latin America Paul Lindert, Otto Verkoren, 2010-03-02 Much of the scholarly and professional literature on development focuses either on the macro level of national policies and politics or on the micro level of development projects and household or community socio economic dynamics By contrast this collection pitches itself at the meso level with a comparative exploration of the ways in which local institutions municipalities local governments city authorities civil society networks and others have demanded and taken on a greater role in planning and managing development in the Latin American region The book's rich empirical studies reveal that local institutions have engaged upwards with central authorities to shape their policy and resource environments and in turn been pressured from below by local actors contesting the ways in which the structures and processes of local governance are framed The examples covered in this volume range from global cities such as Mexico and Santiago to remote rural areas of the Bolivian and Brazilian Amazon As a result the book provides a deep understanding of the diversity and complexity of local governance and local development in Latin America while avoiding the stereotyped claims about the impact of globalisation or the potential benefits of decentralisation as frequently stated in less empirically grounded analysis Transport and Development B. S. Hoyle, 1973-07-01 Regional Development and Proximity Relations André Torre, Frédéric Wallet, 2014-02-28 The notion of proximity is increasing in popularity in economic and geographic literature and is now commonly used by scholars in regional science and spatial economics Journal of Issues in Development, 1984 The African Review, 1983 A journal of African politics development and international affairs Modernization in China Kwan Yiu Wong, David K. Y. Chu, 1985 In this book China's special economic zones areas in which foreign and domestic entrepreneurs are offered investment incentives for setting up modern manufacturing plants are thoroughly analyzed for their economic potential with special emphasis on Shenzhen the most advanced of the zones Economics Joe U. Umo, 1986 Studies in Multilevel Planning Amitava Mukherjee, 1990 World Development, Risks and Opportunities Society for International Development. World Conference, 1985 Communicating National Integration Osabuohien P. Amienyi, 2005 This book addresses the negative impact of social cleavages on the development of many African countries This book provides a provocative discussion of how communication strategies can help to promote national integration and social economic and political development Economic Development as a Subject for Teaching and Research, 1994 Papers presented at Summer Institute on Economic Development as a Subject for Teaching and Research organized by Dept of Economics Rabindra Bharati University from March 27 1985 to April 9 1985 Desert Development Y. Gradus, 1985-10-31 The fact that approximately one third of the world's land mass is arid desert may be congenial for the camel and the cactus but not for people Nevertheless well over half a billion people or 15% of the world's population live in arid desert areas If the world's population were distributed evenly over the land surface we would expect to find about 30% of the population inhabiting arid desert areas Does the fact that only 15% of the world's population live in an arid desert environment reflect the harshness of the environment Or is it a testimony to the adaptability and ingenuity of mankind Do we view the glass as half full Or half empty The contributors to Desert Development Man and Technology in Sparselands adopt the position that the cup is half full and in fact could be filled much more Indeed many arid desert zones do thrive with life and given appropriate technological development such areas could support even greater populations While the dire Malthusian prediction that rapid world population growth exceeds the carrying capacity of existent resource systems has gained popularity typified by the 1972 Club of Rome book Limits to Growth there is a growing body of serious work which rejects such pessimistic depletion models in favor of models which are mildly optimistic
