Creative Music Making:

Creative Music Making William L. Cahn, 2005 Most musicians focus on learning technique learning how to play an instrument rather than on developing an individual unique voice Creative Music Making focuses on the creative development of musicians from all levels of experience and in all styles of music Based on the author's experience leading workshops for performers around the world the easy to follow exercises in this text will enable any musician from beginner to professional to improve creativity and self expression Creative Music Making will open the ears of all musicians vocalists or instrumentalists in classical popular or jazz styles to a world of new possibilities Creative Music Making at Your Fingertips Gena R. Greher, Suzanne L. Burton, 2021 Students are drawn to mobile technologies such as iPads and smartphones because of the sheer endless possibilities of the digital worlds they hold But how can their potential for stimulating the imagination be effectively used in the music classroom to support students development of musical thinking Countering voices that see digital technologies as a threat to traditional forms of music making and music education this collection explores the many ways in which hand held devices can be used to promote student learning and provides teachers with guidance on making them a vital presence in their own classrooms Creative Music Making at Your Fingertips features 11 chapters by music education scholars and practitioners that provide tried and true strategies for using mobile devices in a variety of contexts from general music education to ensembles and from K 12 to college classrooms Drawing on their own experiences with bringing mobile devices and different music apps into the classroom contributors show how these technologies can be turned into tools for teaching performance improvisation and composition Their practical advice on how pedagogy and mobile technologies can be aligned to increase students creative engagement with music and help them realize their musical potential makes this book an invaluable resource for music educators who want to be at the forefront of pedagogical transformations made possible by 21st century technologies "Creative music making is giving an opportunity to one's own improvisation and composing" - Primary school teachers' conceptions about teaching creative music making, 2016 Aims The present national core curriculum of Finnish comprehensive school highlights creative music making such as improvising and composing as one of the main contents and aims of music education Firstly the primary aim of this research is to study how music teachers conceptualize creative music making and what kind of meanings they give for creative music making in elementary school context Secondly the study explores what are teachers perceptions of their qualifications on teaching creative music making and where they view that the qualifications originated from Finally the study finds out what kind of support are teachers getting for teaching creative music making and what kind of obstacles are preventing them from teaching creative music making Methodology This research is a qualitative case study It is based on five thematic interviews with teachers who teach music in elementary school The analysis of the data includes features from content analysis and fenomenographic analysis Results and conclusions The interviewees expressed diverse conceptions about creative music making and their conceptions were similar to the forms of creative music making highlighted in previous literature and theory The interviewees were able to adapt the exercises for different age levels Furthermore they experienced creative music making as a meaningful part of music education for multiple reasons According to the interviewees creative music making improved learning skills joy of learning and skills of thought It also strengthen the active role and creative self expression of the pupil Interviewees also highlighted the transfer effect of the creative music making It was also experienced meaningful for grouping and developing social atmosphere However all the interviewees experienced their qualification for teaching creative music making at least partially insufficient Qualifications were more often originated from hobbies and from prior work experience t Creativity Sing Lau,Anna H.
