

American Judiciary

Judiciary Act of 1789: outlined what the federal court system would like

- Most issues would be handled on the state level
- Created the size of the first Supreme Court of the United States (SCOTUS)
- 6 members of the SCOTUS initially
- Created district courts: created basic concept of district courts with this act; one in each state; doesn't change for about 15 years when Virginia and New York are given second districts
- Created circuit courts: two members of the supreme court and the local district judge
- Three circuit courts in the US with two justices assigned to each circuit; remained a part of the law until the 1880s

Supreme Court

- First chief justice was John Jay
- John Jay was one of the men that helped negotiate peace with Britain
- 5 other justices were appointed
- First assembled Feb. 1 1790
- Handed down its first opinion in 1792

An Independent Judiciary

- The man often referred to as the great chief justice, John Marshall
- Most influential man in creating the courts as we know it today
- Gives voice to the court
- Changed the way in which the courts handed down decisions
- Regularized the process to what we know as today (not a new idea)
