The Local Government Antitrust Act Thomas William Mayo, 2022 In 1978 the United States Supreme Court held for the first time in City of Lafayette v Louisiana Power Light Co that municipalities do not enjoy a blanket exemption from the coverage of the federal antitrust laws Although a majority of the Justices agreed that Congress had intended to exempt some conduct of local governments under the antitrust laws there was no majority support for either of the two proposed formulations of the exemption It was not until 1982 in Community Communications Co v City of Boulder that the Court agreed on the requirements for state action exemption for municipalities a state acting in its sovereign capacity is immune from the antitrust laws under Parker v Brown while a local government is immune if it acts in furtherance or implementation of clearly articulated and affirmatively expressed state policy A wave of antitrust litigation against local governments followed the City of Lafayette decision The author discusses the response of the local governments to the Supreme Court's decisions and analyzes the developments brought by the Local Government Antitrust Act of 1984
