Collecting Prints and Drawings Sylvia Heudecker, Andrea M. Gáldy, 2019-01-22 Cabinets of prints and drawings are found in the earliest art collections of Early Modern Europe From the sixteenth century onwards some of them acquired such fame that the necessity for an ordered and scientific display meant that a dedicated keeper was occasionally employed to ensure that fellow enthusiasts as well as visiting diplomats courtiers and artists might have access to the print room Often collected and displayed together with drawings the prints formed a substantial part of princely collections which sometimes achieved astounding longevity as a specialised group of collectibles such as the Florentine Gabinetto Disegni e Stampe at the Uffizi GDSU Prints and drawings both bought and commissioned were collected by princes and by private amateurs Like the rest of their collections the prints and drawings were usually preserved and displayed as part of or near the owner's library in close proximity to scientific instruments cut gems or small sculptural works of art Both prints and drawings not only documented an encyclopaedic approach to the knowledge available at the time but also depicted parts of the collections in the form of a paper museum Prints and drawings also served as a guide to the collections They spread their fame and the renown of their owners across Europe and into new worlds of collecting both East and West This volume explores issues such as when how and why did cabinets of prints and drawings become a specialised part of princely and private collections How important were collections of prints and drawings for the self representation of a prince or connoisseur among specialists and social peers Is the presentation of a picture hanging in a gallery for example by Charles Eisen for the Royal Galleries at Dresden to be treated as documentary evidence Are there notable differences in the approach to collecting presentation and preservation of prints and drawings in diverse parts of the world What was the afterlife of such collections up to the present day

The Antonio II Badile Album of Drawings: The Origins of Collecting Drawings in Early Modern Northern Italy Evelyn Karet, 2017-07-05 Evelyn Karet's in depth study of the Antonio II Badile Album the earliest known example of an art collection pasted onto the pages of a book is both focused and broad in its appeal to those interested in the early modern era The provenance of the album is traced from its assemblage to the seventeenth century collection of Conte Lodovico Moscardo to its dismantling by the dealer Francis Matthiesen in the 1950s establishing that the volume conserved in the Frits Lugt Collection is not an original but a replica produced by Matthiesen Although Antonio II must be celebrated as the collector of the drawings new paleographic analysis has identified the actual compiler of the album after Antonio's death providing a terminus post quem in the late 1530s or early 1540s Karet enlarges the focus from the album itself to the historic tradition of collecting drawings in northern Italy in the early modern era before Vasari for which the album provides a new point of reference Throughout the book Karet discusses the Badile family examines the individual drawings in the book investigates the contacts between artists and humanists their rich diverse collections and the humanist mind set that fostered the appreciation of drawings She explores notable early drawing collections in northern Italy and the role of northern Italy as a center of collection in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries The book concludes with two appendices a reconstruction of the original album including a discussion of the reconstruction process suggestions about what the album originally looked like and a page by page guide to its contents and a detailed analysis of Francis Matthiesen's career This book opens up new areas of inquiry into an overlooked subject

Never for Want of Powder C. L. Bragg, 2007 Lavishly illustrated with seventy four color plates and fifty black and white photographs and drawings Never for Want of Powder tells the story of a world class munitions factory constructed by the Confederacy in 1861 the only large scale permanent building project undertaken by a government often characterized as lacking modern industrial values In this comprehensive examination of the powder works five scholars a historian physicist curator architectural historian and biographer bring their combined expertise to the task of chronicling gunpowder production during the Civil War In doing so they make a major contribution to understanding the history of wartime technology and Confederate ingenuity Early in the war President Jefferson Davis realized the Confederacy s need to supply its own gunpowder Accordingly Davis selected Col George Washington Rains to build a gunpowder factory An engineer and West Point graduate Rains relied primarily on a written pamphlet rather than on practical experience in building the powder mill yet he succeeded in designing a model of efficiency and safety He sited the facilities at Augusta Georgia because of the city s central location canal transportation access to water power railroad facilities and relative security from attack As much a story of people as of machinery Never for Want of Powder recounts the ingenuity of the individuals involved with the project A cadre of talented subordinates including Frederick Wright C Shaler Smith William Pendleton and Isadore P Girardey assisted Rains to a degree not previously appreciated by historians This volume also documents the coordinated outflow of gunpowder and ammunition and Rains s difficulty in preparing for the defense of Augusta Today a lone chimney along the Savannah River stands as the only reminder of the munitions facility that once occupied that site With its detailed reproductions of architectural and mechanical schematics and its expansive vista on the Confederacy Never for Want of Powder restores the Augusta Powder Works to its rightful place in American lore The Grosvenor Gallery Illustrated Catalogue Grosvenor Gallery, 1877 Special collections Princeton University.
