Creating Home:

House Journal Kansas. Legislature. House of Representatives, 1921      Good Green Homes Jennifer Roberts, 2009-09

Green It conjures images of a meadow in spring for some and the color of money for others What does green have to do with our homes In essence green building or sustainable building means being smart about how we use energy water and building materials so that we can live well without needlessly damaging the environment Creating a good green home isn't just about conservation about using less or saving more although that's certainly part of it It's about creating better homes that are easier on the environment less expensive over the long term and more delightful to come home to That's the message Jennifer Roberts wants to share in Good Green Homes the ultimate new guide for people who want to live in comfortable healthy environmentally conscious homes With some simple steps outlined in this book you can save money and do your part to help save the environment For instance using an energy efficient light bulb saves you money It also results in less demand for electricity which in turn results in less pollution from power plants which may help a child with asthma breathe a little easier If you associate green built housing with the unconventional or the quirky tree houses geodesic domes dwellings constructed of tires or soda bottles think again Perfect for homeowners remodelers renters who might be surprised by how much is within their power to change architects builders and interior designers this book lays out seven fundamental principles of green building illustrated with more than 150 color and 20 black and white photographs of more than twenty five homes Jennifer Roberts launched two retail stores in San Francisco specializing in environmentally sensible consumer products including household goods and is a freelance writer and editor on topics that include energy efficient building design and systems

Imagining Religious Communities Jennifer B. Saunders, 2019-07-05 Imagining Religious Communities tells the story of the Gupta family through the personal and religious narratives they tell as they create and maintain their extended family and community across national borders Based on ethnographic research the book demonstrates the ways that transnational communities are involved in shaping their experiences through narrative performances Jennifer B Saunders demonstrates that narrative performances shape participants social realities in multiple ways they define identities they create connections between community members living on opposite sides of national borders and they help create new homes amidst increasing mobility The narratives are religious and include epic narratives such as excerpts from the Ramayana as well as personal narratives with dharmic implications Saunders analysis combines scholarly understandings of the ways in which performances shape the contexts in which they are told indigenous comprehension of the power that reciting certain narratives can have on those who hear them and the theory that social imaginaries define new social realities through expressing the aspirations of communities Imagining Religious Communities argues that this Hindu community's religious narrative performances significantly contribute to shaping their transnational lives
