loop neuroprosthetic systems achieve more favorable outcomes for users than equivalent open loop devices. Improvements in task performance, usability, and embodiment have all been reported in systems utilizing some form of feedback. The bidirectional communication between living neurons and artificial devices is the main final goal of those studies. However, closed loop systems are still uncommon in the literature, mostly due to the requirement of multidisciplinary effort. Therefore, through this eBook on closed loop systems for next generation neuroprostheses, we encourage an active discussion among neurobiologists, electrophysiologists, bioengineers, computational neuroscientists, and neuromorphic engineers. This eBook aims to facilitate this process by ordering the 25 contributions of this research in which we highlighted in three different parts: A Optimization of different blocks composing the closed loop system; B Systems for neuromodulation based on DBS, EMG, and SNN; and C Closed loop BMIs for rehabilitation.
