Addictive States of Mind Marion Bower, Robert Hale, Heather Wood, 2019-06-06 This chapter written by a psychiatrist working with people with severe and complex addictions sets the scene We are provided with a graphic account of the multiple problems physical psychological social financial of someone with severe drug addiction where sex working and the risks of pregnancy infection and assault compound an already challenging presentation The personal history of trauma and abuse means that the patient requires highly skilled and sensitive management and adaptations in service provision such as no morning appointments that respect the individual s lifestyle The conflict for professionals is encapsulated in a brief description of the responses of Vanessa Crawford s patient group when asked what messages they would like to be conveyed to future doctors don t prejudge us treat us as individuals give us proper pain control and don t trust us Implicit in this is the recognition that they are in the grip of something that leads them to deceive probably themselves but also others a wish to pervert a relationship to someone who is trying to help Crawford conveys the importance of being knowledgeable but not omniscient of helping the individual to overcome the barrier of shame which may lead to information being withheld and the crucial contribution of a collaborative and coherent staff team in containing such challenging patients and in helping them to turn a corner towards recovery

20 Embodied Practices for Healing Trauma and Addiction Jan Winhall, 2025-03-18 Trauma and addiction heal in tandem with this paradigm shifting approach What if addiction dissociation and other manifestations of trauma were not framed as diseases or disorders but rather as adaptive methods of regulating the autonomic nervous system ANS This book takes that approach and guides readers through 20 embodied practices that promote the rewiring of the ANS By integrating the latest neuroscience from Stephen Porges s Polyvagal Theory with Eugene Gendlin s embodied felt sense Jan Winhall s Felt Sense Polyvagal Model is a paradigm shifting deeply somatic approach to healing trauma and addiction Readers are presented with two vital tools for healing learning how to recognize and rewire their autonomic state and finding the felt sense of somatic wisdom This compassionate and inviting model centers the intelligence of the body to allow for deep healing and these 20 step by step exercises present an accessible approach for clinicians their clients and anyone on the journey to healing from trauma and addiction The book s exercises are uniquely designed to be completed either with a mental health professional another person engaged in this embodied process a felt sense partner or both

Choice, Behavioural Economics and Addiction Nick Heather, Rudy E. Vuchinich, 2003-11-13 Choice Behavioural Economics and Addiction is about the theory data and applied implications of choice based models of substance use and addiction The distinction between substance use and addiction is important because many individuals use substances but are not also addicted to them The behavioural economic perspective has made contributions to the analysis of both of these phenomena and while the major focus of the book is on theories of addiction it is necessary also to consider the behavioural economic account of substance use in order to place the theories in their proper context and provide full coverage of the contribution of behavioural economics to this field of study The book discusses the four major theories of addiction that have been developed in the area of economic science behavioural economics They are hyperbolic discounting melioration relative addiction rational addiction The main objective of the book is to popularise these ideas among addiction researchers academics and practitioners The specific aims are to articulate the shared and distinctive elements of these four theories to present and discuss the latest empirical work on substance abuse and addiction that is being conducted in this area and to articulate a range of applied implications of this body of work for clinical public health and public policy initiatives The book is based on an invitation only conference entitled Choice Behavioural Economics and Addiction Theory Evidence and Applications held at the University of Alabama at Birmingham March 30 April 1 2001 The conference was attended by prominent scientists and scholars representing a range of disciplines concerned with theories of addiction and their consequences for policy and practice The papers in the book are based on the papers given at the above conference together with commentaries by distinguished experts and in many cases replies to these comments by the presenters
