Copycat Animals:

Copycat Animals Deborah Chancellor, 1999 A mirror is part of the page in this book filled with images of animals such as a pig dog or an owl posed by a toddler making just the right face and wearing a costume to match the theme It is intended to encourage children to explore facial expressions and animal noises and to learn about mirror Animal Defenses Etta Kaner, 1999-04 Kaner and Stephens explain the unique ways in which animals protect themselves Easy to do experiments and activities reveal the tricks animals use to survive Speaking of Animals Robert Palmatier, 1995-04-30 No other nonhuman source has served as the basis for more metaphors than animals Speaking of Animals is a dictionary of animal metaphors that are current in American English It is comprehensive historical and metaphor based Each entry refers to the other dictionaries that catalog that same metaphor and the dates of first appearance in writing are supplied where possible for both the metaphor and the name of the source The main text is organized alphabetically by metaphor rather than by animal or animal behavior all the metaphors are classified according to their animal source in a list at the end of the book An animal metaphor is a word phrase or sentence that expresses a resemblance or similarity between someone or something and a particular animal or animal class True metaphors are single words such as the noun tiger the verb hog and the adjective chicken Phrasal metaphors combine true metaphors with other words such as blind tiger hog the road and chicken colonel Other animal metaphors take the form of similes such as like rats leaving a sinking ship and prickly as a hedgehog Still others take the form of proverbs such as Don t count your chickens before they hatch and Let sleeping dogs lie The horse is the animal most frequently referred to in metaphors followed closely by the dog The Bible is the most prolific literary source of animal metaphors followed closely by Shakespeare Copycats & Contrarians Michelle Baddeley, 2018-07-10 Why we run with or avoid the crowd and why it matters from choosing a restaurant in a tourist trap to believing fake news I learned a lot Tim Harford author of The Undercover Economist Rioting teenagers tumbling stock markets and the spread of religious terrorism appear to have little in common but all are driven by the same basic instincts the tendency to herd follow and imitate others In today s interconnected world group choices all too often seem maladaptive With unprecedented speed information or misinformation flashes across the globe and drives rapid shifts in group opinion Adverse results can include speculative economic bubbles irrational denigration of scientists and other experts seismic political reversals and more Drawing on insights from across the social behavioral and natural sciences Michelle Baddeley explores contexts in which behavior is driven by the herd She analyzes the rational vs nonrational and cognitive vs emotional forces involved and she investigates why herding only sometimes works out well With new perspectives on followers leaders and the pros and cons of herd behavior Baddeley shines vivid light on human behavior in the context of our ever more connected world Her observations on how both risk taking and conformism contributed to Donald Trump s election and on how social media affects copycats make for a well timed and valuable study Publishers Weekly This might well become the defining book for
