The Nervous God Ralph Parsons,2025-02-11 This book addresses four basic topics The first is the fables and fallacies that exist within the tenets of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints These are bound to have a profoundly negative effect upon the eternal spiritual welfare of every adult member so please read prayerfully and carefully The second topic is the imaginary conflict between science primarily evolution and creationism Since this conflict exists only within the minds of mankind it cannot and does not exist in reality The third subject discussed is the evidence of American involvement in the planning and in the execution of the attacks on September 11th 2001 And finally the fourth topic deals with the evidence which indicates the existence of a synthetic emphasis behind the mass shootings in this country We have to believe that either the American people are twenty five times more murderous and crazier than are the people of any other industrialized nation on earth or else a synthetic emphasis is generating and driving the carnage You may be surprised by which way the evidence points

The Last of the Mohicans James Fenimore Cooper, 1998-06-04 The second of Cooper's five Leatherstocking Tales this is the one which has consistently captured the imagination of generations since it was first published in 1826 Its success lies partly in the historical role Cooper gives to his Indian characters against the grain of accumulated racial hostility and partly in his evocation of the wild beautiful landscapes of North America which the French and the British fought to control throughout the eighteenth century At the centre of the novel is the celebrated Massacre of British troops and their families by Indian allies of the French at Fort William Henry in 1757 Around this historical event Cooper built a romantic fiction of captivity sexuality and heroism in which the destiny of the Mohicans Chingachgook and his son Uncas is inseparable from the lives of Alice and Cora Munro and of Hawkeye the frontier scout The controlled elaborate writing gives natural pace to the violence of the novel's action like the nature whose plundering Copper laments the book's placid surfaces conceal inexplicable and deathly forces

February 1778 Supper was over in the house of Cornelius De Vries which stood on Green Street Philadelphia and in that part of the town known as the Northern Liberties Agatha De Vries the elderly and maiden sister of Cornelius had washed and put away the dishes and had gone around the corner to gossip with a neighbor The light shed from two copper candlesticks and from the fire made the sitting room look very snug and cozy In one corner stood a tall clock case flanked by a white pine settee and a chest of drawers A spider legged writing desk stood near the tile lined fireplace over which was a row of china dishes very rare at that time The floor was white and sanded and the walls were hung with a few paintings and colored prints Cornelius De Vries a well to do and retired merchant occupied a broad armed chair at one side of the table that stood in the middle of the room He was a very stately old gentleman of sixty with a clean shaven and wrinkled face He wore a wig black stockings a coat and vest of broadcloth and low shoes with silver buckles His features betrayed his Dutch origin as did also the long stemmed pipe he was smoking and the glass of Holland schnapps at his elbow At the opposite side of the table sat Nathan Stanbury a handsome lad neatly dressed in gray homespun and starched linen and of a size and strength that belied his seventeen years His cheeks were ruddy with health and his curly chestnut hair matched the deep brown of his eyes Nathan was a student at the College of Philadelphia and the open book in his hand was a Latin Horace But he found it difficult to fix his mind on the lesson and his thoughts were constantly straying far from the printed pages Doubtless the wits of Cornelius De Vries were wool gathering in the same direction for he had put aside the hated evening paper The Royal Gazette and was dreamily watching the blue curls of smoke as they puffed upward from his pipe Now he would frown severely and now his eyes would twinkle and his cheeks distend in a grim sort of smile There was much for the loyal people of the town to talk and think about at that time For nearly six months the British army under General Howe had occupied Philadelphia in ease and comfort while at Valley Forge Washington's ragged soldiers were starving and freezing in the wintry weather their heroic commander bearing in dignified silence the censure and complaint that were freely vented by his countrymen Black and desperate indeed seemed the cause of the United American Colonies in that winter of 1777 78 and as yet no light of cheer was breaking on the horizon After grappling for the twentieth time with his lesson Nathan suddenly closed the book and tossed it on the table I can't translate Latin to night Master De Vries he exclaimed It's no use trying I wish I was down town Perhaps a walk in the fresh air will compose my mind The merchant answered only by a negative shake of the head as he filled and ignited his pipe for the third time Yes you are right Nathan said resignedly I suppose I should keep indoors as much as possible to avoid suspicion and I may be needed again shortly Rat tat tat Low and clear rang a knocking on the panels of the front door There exclaimed Nathan jumping up and running into the hall The opening of the door revealed a short man standing on the lower step it was too dark to see his face plainly Without a word he handed the lad a slip of paper and then strode swiftly off down the street Nathan closed and locked the door and hurried to the light of the candles He unfolded the paper and read aloud the following brief message written in a small and legible hand Come to the Indian Queen at once Thee will find friends waiting thy trusty services The lad s eyes sparkled and his cheeks were flushed with excitement Another ride to Valley Forge he said eagerly How glad my father will be to see me And it is a night ride this time Master De Vries I ll warrant tis a matter of great importance Not so loud lad cautioned the merchant But how comes it the word was trusted to paper Did you know the messenger It was Pulling the deaf and dumb hostler from the tavern Nathan replied Doubtless they have just heard news and could not spare time to seek the usual messenger Pulling is trustworthy enough and of course since he can t speak It was imprudent to write interrupted the merchant but I dare say they could do no better Certainly the summons is urgent since it calls thee out at night Yes I must go at once said Nathan and without so much as a change of clothes If the service is what I think it to be I will hardly be back by morning As he spoke he abstractedly dropped the slip of paper into the side pocket of his jacket and moved toward the hall May the good God bring you back in safety Cornelius De Vries said earnestly I love you dearly lad even as I love your father and I would not see you come to harm I have long mistrusted these perilous doings and yet for the sake of the cause To save my oppressed country I would risk life ten times over declared Nathan If there were no work for me to do here I should be fighting with our brave soldiers But there is really no danger Master De Vries You know how often I have been back and forth
