Teaching in the Life of the Church Darin R. Clements, 2025-04-28 I chose to publish my dissertation for two reasons First though quite narrow in scope as good qualitative research should be this research makes a modest contribution to the growing scholarship on Christianity in Cambodia Second this research makes an empirical contribution to the field of nonformal Christian Education from an Asian context in which Christians are a tiny minority As my literature review indicates the field of nonformal CE is dominated by a North American point of view which ironically is facing a general breakdown of historical CE institutions like Sunday school While much of the literature is useful in the Majority World it does not take into account the education levels educational contexts and social dynamics of places like Cambodia For example the findings from my cases indicate that nonformal CE in Cambodia has more in common with the Sunday school movement in the 19th century than with the functions organizational structures and teaching approaches discussed in current literature As I have presented these ideas in class feedback from students has consistently confirmed that my findings resonate with contexts across Asia Pacific

Using Video to Assess Teaching Performance Carrie Eunyoung Hong, Irene Van Riper, 2017-09-15 Recent performance based teacher assessments have challenged teacher educators to rethink the ways that candidates are prepared in education programs edTPA formerly the Teacher Performance Assessment requires teacher candidates to demonstrate knowledge and skills through authentic teaching artifacts written commentary and video clips recorded in real classroom settings As part of the edTPA requirements teacher candidates submit video clips of their own teaching to be viewed and assessed by evaluators This implies that teacher candidates should know how to utilize their own videos for the purpose of improving their instructional skills as well as the learning of their students These initiatives have urged teacher educators to prepare their candidates for the active use of video recorded instruction either in university classrooms or in field based practices This book provides research based strategies to support video analysis of authentic teaching in initial teacher education programs It also presents a review of video recording tools in reference to their features and practicality for different educational settings
