Islam, Causality, and Freedom Özgür Koca, 2020-06-11 In this volume Ozgur Koca offers a comprehensive survey of Islamic accounts of causality and freedom from the medieval to the modern era as well as contemporary relevance His book is an invitation for Muslims and non Muslims to explore a rich but largely forgotten aspect of Islamic intellectual history Here he examines how key Muslim thinkers such as Ibn Sina Ghazali Ibn Rushd Ibn Arabi Suhrawardi Jurjani Mulla Sadra and Nursi among others conceptualized freedom in the created order as an extension of their perception of causality Based on this examination Koca identifies and explores some of the major currents in the debate on causality and freedom He also discusses the possible implications of Muslim perspectives on causality for contemporary debates over religion and science

David Sobel,2016-11-03 Subjective accounts of well being and reasons for action have a remarkable pedigree The idea that normativity flows from what an agent cares about that something is valuable because it is valued has appealed to a wide range of great thinkers But at the same time this idea has seemed to many of the best minds in ethics to be outrageous or worse not least because it seems to threaten the status of morality Mutual incomprehension looms over the discussion From Valuing to Value written by an influential former critic of subjectivism owns up to the problematic features to which critics have pointed while arguing that such criticisms can be blunted and the overall view rendered defensible In this collection of his essays David Sobel does not shrink from acknowledging the real tension between subjective views of reasons and morality yet argues that such a tension does not undermine subjectivism In this volume the fundamental commitments of subjectivism are clarified and revealed to be rather plausible and well motivated while the most influential criticisms of subjectivism are straightforwardly addressed and found wanting
