Charles Ameur, Banco Mundial

Agricultural Extension A Step Beyond The Next Step:

Agricultural Extension Charles Ameur, Banco Mundial, 1994      Agricultural Extension Charles Ameur, 1994-01-01
Recommends the adoption of multiple strategies for agricultural extension and a flexible attitude by governments in addressing the issue Agriculture contributes significantly to the growth of many developing countries Its development is closely linked to several key interrelated factors such as infrastructure research extension farm inputs rural credit price policies and marketing This paper examines agricultural extension within this context drawing on a variety of ongoing cases throughout the world The author stresses the need for governments to define a specific strategy for extension and to re examine the role of the public sector      Agricultural Extension Systems B.S. Hansra (ed.), 2008 Papers presented at the National Seminar on Alternative Extension Approaches in Technology Transfer held at Trivandrum during 21 22 February 2004      Knowledge Generation and Technical Change Steven Wolf, David Zilberman, 2012-12-06 Knowledge generation and transfer mechanisms are being transformed in important and controversial ways Investment in research and development has increased in response to recognition that scientific productivity is tightly connected to economic dynamism Patent protection has been expanded in order to stimulate higher levels of private investment Intellectual property rights held by public organizations and researchers are now increasingly transferred to private organizations to accelerate the diffusion and enhance the value of knowledge produced by public agencies and universities Additionally new institutions such as university offices of technology transfer venture capital markets and a variety of consortia in knowledge intensive industries are being established throughout the United States and in other parts of the world These changes have led to a repositioning of the state in systems of innovation and an increase in the proprietary character of technical information The purpose of this book is to review and analyze i contemporary transitions in agricultural knowledge generation and extension arrangements from an empirical perspective and ii emerging and contradictory perspectives as to how knowledge systems can be assessed effectively The authors aim to provide the reader with a better understanding of the implications of new biotechnologies and new intellectual property rights regimes on public private relations in science the extent to which benefits from scientific knowledge are being appropriated by private sector actors the diversity and possible outcomes of privatization initiatives in extension and prospects for public goods production and ecological sustainability given contemporary trends The book presents contrasting views on the degree of complementarity and substitution between private and public sector investments in research and extension Recognizing that the labels public and private are incomplete and at times misleading descriptions of the structure and function of coordinating bodies in social systems the analyses highlight ways in which public and private spaces and modes of functioning combine In addition to illustrating a broad range of analytic methodologies useful for studying organizational questions in knowledge systems the authors identify the implications of a range of past and potential institutional innovations      Community, Market and State in Development

K. Otsuka, K. Kalirajan, 2010-11-03 How to combine the community, the market and the state in the total economic system is probably the most important agenda for economists geared towards the reduction of poverty in developing economies

Professor Yujiro Hayami This volume brings together leading scholars from all around the world to examine and extend Professor Hayami's development model of community, market and state and to pay tribute to his invaluable contribution to economics

The authors provide new empirical analysis with a clear focus on the role of the community in economic development and its relations with agricultural markets, industrialization and the government using primary data from major countries in Asia and Africa This book is indispensable reading for all interested in development economics, government and market studies and international development studies Agriculture Investment Sourcebook World Bank, 2005-04-08

Investing to promote agricultural growth and poverty reduction is a central pillar of the World Bank's current rural strategy

Reaching the Rural Poor 2003 This Sourcebook addresses how to implement the rural strategy by sharing information on investment options and identifying innovative approaches that will aid the design of future lending programs for agriculture

It provides generic good practices and many examples that demonstrate investment in agriculture can provide rewarding and sustainable returns to development efforts It is divided into eleven self-contained modules Each module contains three different types of subunits that can also stand alone documents I Module Overview II Agricultural Investment Notes III Innovative Activity Profiles The stand-alone nature of the subunits allows flexibility and adaptability of the material Selected readings and web links are also provided for readers who seek more in-depth information The Sourcebook draws on a wide range of experiences from donor agencies, governments, institutions and other groups active in agricultural development It is an invaluable reference tool for policy makers, professionals, academics and students and anyone with an interest in agricultural investments

Getting Ready for the Twenty-first Century Charles H. Antholt, 1994 The productivity growth of farming in Asian countries over the past few decades highlights the high returns on investments in agricultural research and extension made in the region This publication examines the performance of agricultural research and extension programmes in Asia including the World Bank's training and visit (TandV) system, the challenges they face and ways of improving their relevance, responsiveness and cost effectiveness

Conclusions reached include the importance of raising agricultural productivity through new technology in order to promote long-term growth and poverty reduction and the need for less intensive and more environmentally sound agricultural practices

Virus and Virus-like Diseases of Major Crops in Developing Countries Gad Loebenstein, George Thottappilly, 2013-12-18 It appears that a comprehensive and up-to-date book on the impact of virus diseases on the major crops in developing countries is now much needed especially as there have been rapid advances in the biological and molecular characterization and detection of the pathogens and possible approaches for their control On the other hand the economic losses caused by many of these diseases are tremendous and much of the accumulated knowledge to diminish the crop losses has not filtered through or cannot be applied This book is focused on the important crops Each chapter on a specific crop will include inter alia geographical distribution the viruses symptoms damage detection a brief description of the viruses concerned and present and future ways for their control Experts from India Nigeria UK USA France Germany Peru Japan Australia Netherlands Venezuela Kazakhstan and Israel many of them from the International Research Institutions have contributed chapters to this book

Changing Public and Private Roles in Agricultural Service Provision Diana Carney,1995 Rural Extension Services Jock R. Anderson,Gershon Feder,2003 Adoption of New Technology in Agriculture by Tribal and Non-tribal Farmers Aftab Uddin Ahmed,Kanak Kanti Bagchi,2007 In this study an attempt has been made to investigate into the determinants of adoption of new technology in agriculture by tribal and non tribal farmers in Indian agrarian situation of Berpeta district of Assam in particular There are a number of conditions which must be met before given agricultural technology can be accepted by the farmers Some of these conditions are the result of physical environment but many others are the by products of the cultural background of the farmers To make the adoption of agricultural technology possible one must understand the environmental framework in which the process of adoption operates In the absence of such an understanding useful innovations will remain unutilized There is thus a definite need in countries like India for conducting scientific enquiries that may lead to the better understanding of the process of adoption of new agricultural technology
