Social Assessment and Agricultural Reform in Central Asia and Turkey Ayse Kudat, Stan Peabody, Çağlar Keyder, 2000 The social assessment process is relatively new in the World Bank Since its use is particularly relevant to countries in transition politically socially economically and ethnically where much is still unknown in 1997 the World Bank published a book of case studies of the use of social assessment in general in the former Soviet Union This second volume focuses on the social assessment process in the rural sector and includes Central Asian countries and Turkey which were not included in the first volume This volume has several objectives first to disseminate the Bank s experience with social assessment for the use of development practitioners around the world second to initiate a dialogue about how the social assessment process can be improved in the future and third to demonstrate the usefulness of social assessment in an area of the world where dealing with rapid change and an uncertain knowledge basis is common

Financing, Efficiency, and Equity in Albanian Education Geremia Palomba, Milan Vodopivec, 2001 This report compiles a rich set of previously unavailable data to define where the education sector in Albania has evolved what key challenges remain and the priority areas for action by the Albanian government The report finds that four broad tasks must be tackled to improve education The country must 1 increase enrollment rates with the goal of achieving truly universal education in primary and lower secondary schools and reversing the actual trend of decreasing secondary enrollment 2 improve the quality of education which requires developing human resource policies such as teacher development programs and improved salaries that will attract good teachers and give them incentives to perform well in classrooms and providing an adequate physical school environment which means among other things renovating and adequately maintaining school buildings 3 increase public spending on education which requires developing clear priorities and reducing relative spending on tertiary education providing constant and reliable funding to support the identified policy priorities and increasing spending on non wage expenditures and investments and 4 make better use of teachers and schools by decentralizing decisionmaking and responsibilities that are more reasonably delegated to the local level
