Archaeologists Sci At Work:

Can There be a Philosophy of Archaeology? William Harvey Krieger, 2006-01-01 Can There Be a Philosophy of Archaeology provides a historical and philosophical analysis of the rise and fall of the philosophical movement known as logical positivism focusing on the effect of that movement on the budding science of archaeology Significant problems resulted from the grafting of logical positivism onto what became known as processual or new archaeology and as a result of this failure archaeologists distanced themselves from philosophers of science believing that archaeology would be best served by a return to the dirt By means of a thorough analysis of the real reasons for failures of logical empiricism and the new archaeology as well as a series of archaeological case studies Krieger shows the need for the resumption of dialogue and collaboration between the two groups In an age where philosophers of science are just beginning to look beyond the standard examples of scientific practice this book demonstrates that archaeological science can hold its own with other sciences and will be of interest to archaeologists and philosophers of science alike ARCHAEOLOGY - Volume I Donald L. Hardesty, 2010-06-15 Archaeology is a component of Encyclopedia of Social Sciences and Humanities in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias Archaeology is a road for traveling into the past that is independent of and complementary to documents and memory The archaeological record provides historical perspectives on variability and change in human life support systems with the potential for use in planning for future sustainable development The Theme is organized into four different topics which represent the main scientific areas of the theme Foundations of Archaeology The Archaeology of Life Support Systems World Cultural Heritage Preserving Archaeological Sites and Monuments which are then expanded into multiple subtopics each as a chapter The first topic deals with historical methodological and theoretical foundations of archaeology The second topic explores the archaeological record of human life support systems and includes chapters on foraging food production such as farming and nomadic lifestyles civilizations water management systems and sustainability World cultural heritage is the third topic Finally the fourth topic covers the preservation of cultural memorials such as archaeological sites landscapes and monuments These two volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College Students Educators Professional Practitioners Research Personnel and Policy Analysts Managers and Decision Makers NGOs and GOs Archaeological Science Under a Microscope Michael Haslam, Gail Robertson, Alison Crowther, Sue Nugent, Luke Kirkwood, 2009-07-01 These highly varied studies spanning the world demonstrate how much modern analyses of microscopic traces on artifacts are altering our perceptions of the past Ranging from early humans to modern kings from ancient Australian spears or Mayan pots to recent Maori cloaks the contributions demonstrate how starches raphides hair blood feathers resin and DNA have become essential elements in archaeology's modern arsenal for reconstructing the daily spiritual and challenging aspects of ancient lives and for understanding human evolution The book is a fitting tribute to Tom Loy the pioneer of residue studies and gifted teacher who inspired and mentored these exciting projects Between History and Archaeology: Papers in honour of Jacek Lech Dagmara H. Werra, Marzena Woźny, 2018-02-28 A collection of forty six papers papers in honour of Professor Jacek Lech compiled in recognition of his research and academic career as well as his inquiry into the study of prehistoric flint mining Neolithic flint tools and beyond and the history of archaeology The American Archaeologist ,1898 Archaeology Meets Science Yannis Tzedakis, Holley Martlew, Martin K. Jones, 2008 The Archaeology meets Science project is currently transforming our understanding of the Minoan and Mycenaean civilisations through the in depth application of state of the art scientific analyses to ceramic artefacts and skeletal material This book is the fruit of this acclaimed research which was carried out between 1997 and 2003 and presented in an exhibition in a number of museums across Europe and the United States starting with the National Archaeological Museum in Athens Moving beyond the standard archaeological format of illustrations with descriptions of contexts the book analyses each object from the inside and consequently each has a different story to tell Organic residue and stable isotope analysis has extended our knowledge beyond anything previously gleaned through conventional archaeological research and we now have a much better understanding of the food and drink consumed by ordinary people in Bronze Age Greece There are some fascinating insights such as the origin of modern Greek retsina which was traced first to the time of Agamemnon then to Crete in the 17th century BC and finally to the Early Minoan Period c 2000 BC The book provides the primary scientific evidence on which the world renowned scientists who have carried out this work have based their conclusions Ivory and the Elephant in Art, in Archaeology, and in Science George Frederick Kunz, 1916 The Place of Archaeology in Science James Kenward (called Elfynydd.), 1877 Congress of Arts and Science: History of language.
