A Mapmakers Dream:

A Mapmaker's Dream James Cowan,2007-12-18 In sixteenth century Venice in an island monastery a cloistered monk experiences the adventure of a lifetime all within the confines of his cell Part historical fiction part philosophical mystery A Mapmaker's Dream tells the story of Fra Mauro and his struggle to realize his life's work to make a perfect map one that represents the full breadth of Creation News of Mauro's projects attracts explorers pilgrims travelers and merchants all eager to contribute their accounts of faraway people and places As he listens to the tales of the strange and fantastic things they've seen Mauro comes to regard the world as much more than continents and kingdoms that it is also made up of a vast and equally real interior landscape of beliefs aspirations and dreams Mauro's map grows and takes shape becoming both more complete and incomprehensible In the process the boundaries of Mauro's world are pushed to the extreme raising questions about the relationship between representation imagination and the nature of reality itself The Springboard

Stephen Denning,2012-08-21 The Springboard How Storytelling Ignites Action in Knowledge Era Organizations is the first book to teach storytelling as a powerful and formal discipline for organizational change and knowledge management The book explains how organizations can use certain types of stories springboard stories to communicate new or envisioned strategies structures identities goals and values to employees partners and even customers Readers will learn techniques by which they can help their organizations become more unified responsive and intelligent Storytelling is a management technique championed by gurus including Peter Senge Tom Peters and Larry Prusak Now Stephen Denning an innovator in the new discipline of organizational storytelling teaches how to use stories to address challenges fundamental to success in today's information economy The Spatial Construction of Organization Tor Hernes,2004-01-29 An important challenge to organization theory is to search for constructs that explain how contexts for work emerge evolve persist and change This book explores the concept of space as representing a wide variety of contexts Organization as a process as distinguished from organization as an entity is seen as the construction of space where space is the outcome of human action and interaction as well as providing a context for actions and interaction The book shows how different forms of space lie at the base of a number of developments in organization theory It then takes the step to show how contemporary developments in social science represented by works by writers such as Giddens Luhmann Latour and Bourdieu can be used to establish a dynamic understanding of organization as space Insights from these discussions are used to establish a unique and coherent way of understanding complexities of modern organization The Best Novels of the Nineties Linda Parent in the nineteenth century while bringing Tweed out from behind the shadows of Thomas Nast's leering cartoons and presenting him as much as is possible as a man and not an icon. An interesting example of Americana, this volume will be of interest to historians of the period as well as those interested in American urban and political life. Mapmakers of America S. Carl Hirsch, 1970 Toward Freedom, 1994 The World Review, 1928 The Chronicles of Panchita Villa and Other Guerrillas Tey Diana Rebolledo, 2005. Although there have been substantial contributions to Chicana literature and criticism over the past few decades, Chicanas are still underrepresented and underappreciated in the mainstream literary world and virtually nonexistent in the canon. Writers like Sandra Cisneros, Ana Castillo, and Gloria Anzaldúa have managed to find larger audiences and critical respect, but there are legions of Chicana writers and artists who have been marginalized and ignored despite their talent. Even in Chicano anthologies, the focus has tended to be more on male writers. Chicanas have often found themselves without a real home in the academic world. Tey Diana Rebolledo has been writing about Chicana Latina identity, literature, discrimination, and feminism for more than two decades. In this collection of essays, she brings together both old and new works to give a state-of-the-moment look at the still largely unanswered questions raised by vigilant women of colour throughout the last half of the twentieth century. An intimate introductory essay about Rebolledo's personal experiences as the daughter of a Mexican mother and a Peruvian father serves to lay the groundwork for the rest of the volume. The essays delve into the historical development of Chicana writing and its early narratives, the representation of Chicanas as seen on book covers, Chicana feminism, being a Chicana critic in the academy, Chicana art history, and Chicana creativity. Rebolledo encourages guerrillera warfare against academia in order to open up the literary canon to Chicana Latina writers who deserve validation. Canadian Business, 1959 American Dreams, American Nightmares David Madden, 1970. The pursuit of the American Dream, supposedly shaped by the Edenic promises of the American land, has engaged our writers from the beginning, and much of our literature has come out of the national literary experience thus expressed. This collection of nineteen original unpublished essays written for this book is particularly relevant today when our collective field of vision seems obscured and when the American Dream seems to have become a cliché, symbolic of the Dream defunct. The nineteen critics here presented include, among others, Leslie Fiedler, Oscar Cargill, Maxwell Geismar, Jules Chametzky, Louis Filler, and Ihab Hassan. Most of them seem to agree with the view expressed by the majority of our best creative writers that in pursuing the American Dream, America has created a nightmare. Taken together, the nineteen essays provide a comprehensive view of American literature past and present as it has dealt with the Dream, but the emphasis is on modern works and present social, cultural, and political problems: poverty, war, and racism. Ten of the essays focus on such key works as Herman Melville's The Two Temples, F. Scott Fitzgerald's The Great Gatsby, William Faulkner's The Bear, Thomas Wolfe's You Can't Go Home Again, Ralph Ellison's Invisible Man, Arthur Miller's Death of a Salesman, and Norman Mailer's Why Are We in Vietnam. Contact, 1963 Lumber World Review, 1925 Current Literature, 1928
