Program Monitoring and Visualization Clinton L. Jeffery, 2012-12-06 In computer science the primary application of visualization technology is software visualization the use of graphics to portray information obtained from a static or dynamic analysis of a program Software visualization is used in several phases of the software development lifecycle but it is of particular interest in the back end tasks of debugging performance tuning and understanding complex systems in order to maintain them Software visualization is expected to improve the back end of the software development process which can result in huge cost savings Debugging tuning and maintaining programs comprise the majority of the high costs associated with software development Unfortunately the rate at which these software technologies have improved has been gradual The task of writing software visualization tools is difficult and most existing systems are limited to a narrow scope such as the visualization of a single well understood algorithm from a hand instrumented source program This book presents software visualization at a level suitable for a senior level undergraduate or graduate course or for the interested technical professional The approach is to give a survey of the field and then present a specific research framework designed to reduce the effort required to write visualization tools A wide range of simple program control flow and data structure visualizations are then presented as examples of how to obtain information about program behavior and how to present it graphically Source code fragments and screen images illustrate each example

Software Visualization Stephan Diehl, 2003-07-31 This book presents the state of the art in software visualization and thus attempts to establish it as a field on its own Based on a seminar held at Dagstuhl Castle in May 2001 the book offers topical sections on algorithm animation software visualization and software engineering software visualization and education graphs in software visualization and perspectives of software visualization Each section starts with an introduction surveying previous and current work and providing extensive bibliographies

Network Flows and Matching David S. Johnson, Catherine C. McGeoch, Interest has grown recently in the application of computational and statistical tools to problems in the analysis of algorithms In many algorithmic domains worst case bounds are too pessimistic and tractable probabilistic models too unrealistic to provide meaningful predictions of practical algorithmic performance Experimental approaches can provide knowledge where purely analytical methods fail and can provide insights to motivate and guide deeper analytical results The DIMACS Implementation Challenge was organized to encourage experimental work in the area of network flows and matchings Participants at sites in the U S Europe and Japan undertook projects between November 1990 and August 1991 to test and evaluate algorithms for these problems The Challenge culminated in a three day workshop held in October 1991 at DIMACS This volume contains the revised and refereed versions of twenty two of the papers presented at the workshop along with supplemental material about the Challenge and the Workshop

Visual Database Systems 3 Stefano Spaccapietra, Ramesh Jain, 1995-09-30 Both the way we look at data through a DBMS and the nature of data we ask a DBMS to manage have drastically evolved over the last decade moving from text to images and to sound to a lesser extent Visual representations are used extensively within new user interfaces Powerful visual approaches are being experimented for data manipulation including the investigation of three dimensional display techniques Similarly sophisticated data visualization techniques are dramatically improving the understanding of the information extracted from a database On the other hand more and more applications use images as basic data or to enhance the quality and richness of data manipulation services Image management has opened a wide area of new research topics in image understanding and analysis The IFIP 2.6 Working Group on Databases strongly believes that a significant mutual enrichment is possible by confronting ideas concepts and techniques supporting the work of researcher and practitioners in the two areas of visual interfaces to DBMS and DBMS management of visual data For this reason IFIP 2.6 has launched a series of conferences on Visual Database Systems The first one has been held in Tokyo 1989 VDB 2 was held in Budapest 1991 This conference is the third in the series As the preceding editions the conference addresses researchers and practitioners active or interested in user interfaces human computer communication knowledge representation and management image processing and understanding multimedia database techniques and computer vision

Computer-Aided Scheduling of Public Transport Stefan Voß, Joachim R. Daduna, 2001-07-31 This volume gives an overview on new theoretical approaches on computer aided methods for strategic and operational planning in public transport The papers of this volume cover the most important steps of the complete process of planning and operational control in public transport and public mass transit Readers of this book obtain detailed information on current developments in vehicle and crew scheduling and in solving such problems in practice Interesting results in scheduling theory are shown using procedures for solving combinatorial problems with more complex structures Furthermore experiences in the application of specific software tools are presented TOC Vehicle and Crew Scheduling Methodical Advances Vehicle and Crew Scheduling Practical Issues Advanced Transit Service and Vehicle Routing Monitoring and Control Strategic Decision Problems Appendices ACM SIGGRAPH '89 Course Notes, 1989 *Proceedings of the ... fifth in a well established series of workshops on Visualization in Scientific Computing organized by the EUROGRAPHICS Association held at May 30 to June 1 1994 in Rostock Germany treat topics of particular interest in current research visualization of multidimensional data flow visualization data modeling time control interaction and volume visualization Examples of applications for instance come from flow simulation chemistry medical imaging and geography Readers will profit in getting insight in state of the art techniques which might help them to solve their visualization problems
