Rising to the Challenge National Research Council, Policy and Global Affairs, Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy, Committee on Comparative National Innovation Policies: Best Practice for the 21st Century, 2012-08-06 America's position as the source of much of the world's global innovation has been the foundation of its economic vitality and military power in the post war No longer is U S pre eminence assured as a place to turn laboratory discoveries into new commercial products companies industries and high paying jobs As the pillars of the U S innovation system erode through wavering financial and policy support the rest of the world is racing to improve its capacity to generate new technologies and products attract and grow existing industries and build positions in the high technology industries of tomorrow Rising to the Challenge U S Innovation Policy for Global Economy emphasizes the importance of sustaining global leadership in the commercialization of innovation which is vital to America's security its role as a world power and the welfare of its people The second decade of the 21st century is witnessing the rise of a global competition that is based on innovative advantage To this end both advanced as well as emerging nations are developing and pursuing policies and programs that are in many cases less constrained by ideological limitations on the role of government and the concept of free market economics The rapid transformation of the global innovation landscape presents tremendous challenges as well as important opportunities for the United States This report argues that far more vigorous attention be paid to capturing the outputs of innovation the commercial products the industries and particularly high quality jobs to restore full employment America's economic and national security future depends on our succeeding in this endeavor

Comparing Socialist

Approaches Carmelo Mesa-Lago, 2025-05-06 In Comparing Socialist Approaches Carmelo Mesa Lago examines the two main socialist models across Cuba China and Vietnam to compare central planning and socialist markets Under the Cuban central plan large state enterprises have been unable to generate economic growth even with mild structural market reforms and a small controlled private sector In the Sino Vietnamese model of a socialist marketplace dynamic private enterprises of all sizes together with large state enterprises operate under a decentralized plan with state regulation and control This has allowed for accelerated growth and social improvement The two models are contrasted across five major economic policies ownership of the means of production agrarian reform industrialization processes employment and currency and exchange rate unification Mesa Lago argues that the socialist market model has a better performance than the central plan across economic and social indicators He then recommends policies to improve social protection in the three countries

Unfair ID Silvia Masiero, 2024-10-05 We live in an age of digital ID Through the digitisation of our biometric and demographic selves digital ID converts human beings into digital data which in turn mediates access to services and rights be they public or private commercial or not for profit essential or non essential Allegedly designed to improve services and to aid humanitarianism and social inclusion digital ID has multiple hidden complexities From denying access to essential goods to algorithmic bias to the sharing of sensitive data about vulnerable groups digital ID is not necessarily just or balanced or helping It is often severely unfair This book offers a journey into stories of unfair ID Exploring examples across sectors countries and data managed populations it takes a data justice perspective on what this unfairness effectively means for the users of digital identity systems Examples range from denial of food rations to eligible beneficiaries to the searchability of asylum seeker data in police force databases to the algorithmically determined exclusion of genuinely entitled users from anti poverty schemes This book also explores forms of resistance to these injustices showing how solidarity movements can resist engage and challenge the damages of unfair ID Through its research it sets out to imagine forms of fair ID where people s rights and entitlements are upheld ultimately contributing to build a future of justice for the digitally identified Silvia Masiero is an Associate Professor of Information Systems at the HISP Center Department of Informatics University of Oslo
