Reflections: An Architect's Memoir Charles Belson,2023-07-21 Architect Charles Belson s new memoir REFLECTIONS reads like a novel where great expectations social class divisions and the realities of real estate economics often collide head on with architectural ambition Unlike other books REFLECTIONS can be judged by its cover for three good reasons First because Charles was the architect who designed his own Greek Revival house featured on the cover Second because he was the photographer who took the iconic photo of his house reflecting upon itself And third as a writer in search of a one word title Charles decides that REFLECTIONS is perfect REFLECTIONS has an interesting narrative At age four Charles runs away from home and ends up in The New York Foundling Hospital His father who is an FDNY fireman and his resourceful mother both come to his rescue Years later he sprints through Yale and Harvard earning two degrees He marries his college soulmate Janer Danforth who earns three degrees Architecture comes alive in Belson s book His buildings are characters with stories to tell As a site architect at both the Pyramids and the Valley of the Kings in Egypt he surveys monuments and prepares drawings for publications When his progress is temporarily interrupted by the Yom Kippur war he writes war stories After returning to America Charles heads up a team designing a new concert hall for Hamilton College His acoustician explains to him how architecture is frozen music and then demonstrates how the eye can fool the ear Based upon success at Hamilton Charles heads up a team for a new performing arts center at Skidmore College He Janer and their children move from their house near Philadelphia into a new larger house designed by Charles near Cleveland REFLECTIONS is an illustrated memoir It is a story about adolescent dreams that come true Unfortunantely not many memoirs are written by architects in any given year There is a young audience in high school and college libraries that could benefit from reading an inspirational book like REFLECTIONS Intriguing memoirs such as this one may help dispell the popular belief that architecture is a profession only for a rich man s son or daughter The American Architect and the Architectural Review ,1922 Reflections on Baroque Robert Harbison,2002-09-01 In this surprising reinterpretation of the Baroque Robert Harbison offers new readings that stress its eccentric and tumultuous forms in which a destabilized sense of reality is often projected onto the viewer The Architecture of the British Library at St. Pancras Roger Stonehouse,Gerhard Stromberg,2004-08-02 In a series of interrelated essays this book describes the British Library and the issues surrounding its design construction purpose and place in the architectural canon Examining the experience of the building together with its form these essays explore the ideas and aspirations behind its conception and its construction offering insight into this striking controversial and stimulating building For artists architects and building professionals interested in the current debates concerning architecture and our culture The Architecture of the British Library at St Pancras is a stimulating read An Architecture of Invitation Sarah Menin, Stephen Kite, 2018-12-13 First published in 2005 An Architecture of invitation Colin St John Wilson is a distinctive study of the life and architectural career of one of the most significant makers theorists and teachers of architecture to have emerged in England in the second half of the twentieth century Exceptionally in an architectural study this book interweaves biography critical analysis of the projects and theory in its aims of explicating the richness of Wilson s body of work thought and teaching Drawing on the specialisms of its authors it also examines the creative and psychological impulses that have informed the making of the work an oeuvre whose experiential depth is recognised by both users and critics Some Critical Reflections on the Architectural Genius of Charles F. McKim Royal Cortissoz, 1910 The Architectural Review, 1910 Thinking Practice Nicholas Temple, Soumyen Bandyopadhyay, 2007 Building Up and Tearing Down Paul Goldberger, 2009-10-13 PAUL GOLDBERGER ON THE AGE OF ARCHITECTURE The Guggenheim Museum Bilbao by Frank Gehry the CCTV Headquarters by Rem Koolhaas the Getty Center by Richard Meier the Times Building by Renzo Piano Pulitzer Prize winning critic Paul Goldberger s tenure at The New Yorker has documented a captivating era in the world of architecture one in which larger than life buildings urban schemes historic preservation battles and personalities have commanded an international stage Goldberger s keen observations and sharp wit make him one of the most insightful and passionate architectural voices of our time In this collection of fifty seven essays the critic Tracy Kidder called America s foremost interpreter of public architecture ranges from Havana to Beijing from Chicago to Las Vegas dissecting everything from skyscrapers by Norman Foster and museums by Tadao Ando to airports monuments suburban shopping malls and white brick apartment houses This is a comprehensive account of the best and the worst of the age of architecture On Norman Foster Norman Foster is the Mozart of modernism He is nimble and prolific and his buildings are marked by lightness and grace He works very hard but his designs don t show the effort He brings an air of unnerving aplomb to everything he creates from skyscrapers to airports research laboratories to art galleries chairs to doorknobs His ability to produce surprising work that doesn t feel labored must drive his competitors crazy On the Westin Hotel The forty five story Westin is the most garish tall building that has gone up in New York in as long as I can remember It is fascinating if only because it makes Times Square vulgar in a whole new way extending up into the sky It is not easy these days to go beyond the bounds of taste If the architects the Miami based firm Arquitectonica had been trying to allude to bad taste one could perhaps respect what they came up with But they simply wanted like most architects today to entertain us On Mies van der Rohe Mies s buildings look like the simplest things you could imagine yet they are among the richest works of architecture ever created Modern architecture was supposed to remake the world and Mies was at the center of the revolution but he was also a counterrevolutionary who designed beautiful things His spare minimalist objects are exquisite He is the only modernist who created a language that ranks with the architectural languages of the past and while this has sometimes been troubling for his reputation his architectural forms become more astonishing as time goes on American Architect ,1900 Architectural Record ,1915
